Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—The war department's first official communique today announced the defeat of a Japanese invasion attempt on the west coast of Luzon Island as President Roosevelt claimed continued supremacy for the United States navy in the Pacific.

Later reports said Japanese parachute troops had landed at Vigan.)

Luzon is the principal island of the Philippines. Manila is located on it, about 400 miles from where the Japanese landings were attempted. Earlier from Manila an army communique had reported the Japanese were attacking "in force" at Luzon's northern end, between Vigan and Aparri. The communique said that information received from the commanding general of the Far East command "reveals the defeat of a hostile attack against the west coast of Luzon between San Fernando and Vigan. Our first bombing attacks on six transports at Vigan resulted in direct hits on three hostile ships and damage to the remaining three, one ship capsizing and sinking immediately."

Calls It Fantastic
The President dismissed as "fantastic" the Japanese claims that they had taken naval supremacy in the Pacific through their surprise attack on Pearl Harbor Sunday.

Nevertheless, within a few hours the Mikado's forces scored another smashing double blow against the Anglo-American naval strength in the Pacific by sinking one of Britain's newest 35,000-ton battleships, Prince of Wales, the 32,000-ton British battle cruiser, Repulse.

London confirmed the loss somewhere off Malaya of the Repulse and the Prince of Wales, the warship on which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill held their historic Atlantic meeting.

These new reverses served to underline the words the President used last night when he told the American people in his first war report that the United States faced a long, hard struggle before it can win the war and the peace that follows.

And, as commander-in-chief, he warned the country in the frankest words that its coasts were in the front line of the war that exploded without warning Sunday morning.

"The attack at Pearl Harbor," he said bluntly, "can be repeated at anyone of many points—points in both oceans and along both our coast lines and against all the rest of the hemisphere."

The radio carried the President's words from a dimmed-out, heavily-guarded White House: "We are now in this war. We are all in it—all the way. Every single man, woman and child is a partner in the most tremendous undertaking of our American history. We must share together the hardships and the good news, the defeats and the victories—the changing fortunes of war."

He made no attempt to minimize the character of the initial news—it all had been bad, and he could not say officially how much Hawaii had suffered until further surveys had been completed. But all his words bespoke calm confidence of the final outcome. "We are going to win the war"

San Francisco Is Stung by General DeWitt's Rebuke

City Drops Careless Ways and Begins to Act
Sensibly as Raid
Alarms Sound

San Francisco, Dec. 10 (AP)—Stung by an army general's reprimand, San Francisco dropped its easy-going ways and began today to learn how to respond to air raid warnings, and if need be, how to live without a light. "This is war—death and destruction may come from the skies at any moment," Lieut. General John L. DeWitt, commanding general of the Fourth Army, said in a blunt rebuke.

General DeWitt heaped scorn upon San Francisco for the manner in which it responded to first mainland air raid alarms of the Japanese-American war Monday night and early Tuesday.

The general's warning of the danger of death from the air spurred other west coast cities, from Canada to Mexico, to make black-out air raid preparations. All of them admittedly had much to learn.

General DeWitt said the conduct of some San Franciscans who failed to heed the blackout orders was criminal, and said persons who doubted the reality of enemy planes being over California Monday night were acting in a manner that was "insane, foolish, idiotic."

"It is damn nonsense to assume we would practice an alert," he said.

Some buildings were blacked out completely during that period, while across the street huge advertising signs continued to burn. The lights of Alcatraz Island gleamed brilliantly in San Francisco bay, while three miles away in the city, an air warden banged on a householder's door and demanded that he turn off a light in the bathroom window.

A one-hour blackout starting at 2:25 o'clock this morning was pronounced nearly perfect—a 100 per cent improvement over the previous ones.

The army made no immediate announcement as to the reason for the alarm. Evidently no bombs had been dropped.

Other extensive blackout areas included Seattle, which was darkened entirely from 12:30 a. m. until daylight, and the San Pedro Harbor district in southern California. Neither had an alarm.

Kota Bharu Lost

Singapore, Dec. 10 (AP)—Loss of Kota Bharu, British air base on the Thailand border in northern Malaya, was indicated officially today in a communique which said British forces had "now reorganized south of Kota Bharu."

London confirmed the loss somewhere off Malaya of the Repulse and the Prince of Wales, the warship on which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill held their historic Atlantic meeting.

These new reverses served to underline the words the President used last night when he told the American people in his first war report that the United States faced a long, hard struggle before it can win the war and the peace that follows.

And, as commander-in-chief, he warned the country in the frankest words that its coasts were in the front line of the war that exploded without warning Sunday morning.

"The attack at Pearl Harbor," he said bluntly, "can be repeated at anyone of many points—points in both oceans and along both our coast lines and against all the rest of the hemisphere."

Japanese Airmen Sacrificed Lives

London, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Vichy radio broadcast a Tokyo dispatch today asserting that the Japanese naval airmen who attacked the United States fleet at Pearl Harbor released their torpedoes and then "flung" their planes straight at their objectives, thus repeating the famous exploit of the "human torpedoes" which marked the Japanese attack at Shanghai.

The dispatch, quoting the newspaper Nichi Nichi, said Japanese flying boats "flew an unprecedented distance to reach Pearl Harbor" and that "not a single one of our airmen expected to return alive."

The "three human torpedoes," according to the Japanese army account, were three privates who thrust lengths of bamboo filled with explosives under the Chinese barbed wire at Shanghai in 1932 and died in the blast. But, the Japanese say, they opened a way through the wire for an infantry assault. (A huge statue depicting the feat stands before the war office in Tokyo.)

Fire Breaks Out In Vacant House; Arson Suspected

Firemen and Police Are Investigating Blaze
Which Breaks Out in Two Places

Fire, of supposed incendiary origin, broke out in two places in the vacant apartment house known as the old "Rafferty long house" on Sycamore street, at East Union street, this morning. The prompt discovery of the fire and the arrival of the fire department brought the fires quickly under control, and the damage was slight.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said this noon that the police and fire departments were investigating the origin of the fires as there were indications that both fires had been started.

The apartment house, which is divided into three-room apartments, is vacant at the present time. One fire was started on the floor in the apartment at No. 29, and the other in the first floor apartment at No. 35.

Both were slow burning fires, said the fire chief.

The fire was discovered by Gus Wyant, a negro, of 30 Tompkins street, who was passing the house on his way to work.

Army Will Study Way to Put End To War Rumors

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—New York's aid raid scare and President Roosevelt's admonition against circulation of "unconfirmed reports" prompted an army study of ways to quiet baseless war alarms.

A preliminary investigation indicated that a well-intentioned telephone call originated a report of enemy bombers two hours offshore which sent Mitchell Field fighters into the air yesterday amid a flurry of excitement in Manhattan.

Almost at the same time the War Department was scotching a rumor that the coast of Oregon had been bombed from the sea. Some officials were inclined to view the spread of alarmist rumors as an inevitable product of public excitement which could be expected to decline as the war wore on.

Some recalled that excited false alarms were equally widespread in the first world war. In one instance lights in a Colorado sky were reported as German planes—the nearest of which was on the other side of the Atlantic.

In the Spanish-American war, following the sinking of the Maine, there were heated demands that the navy be brought home from Cuba to protect Atlantic coast ports from Admiral Cervera's Spanish armada, then far distant.

Powerful Torpedo
London, Dec. 10 (AP)—The possibility that Japan has developed a new and far more powerful aerial torpedo than had been in use before was suggested here today by the work of her airmen against ships at Pearl Harbor and off Malaya. Authorized sources, however, said they had no official information.

Governor Orders 'Practice Blackouts' All Over State

Lehman Says All New York
Cities Must Take Part to Prepare for Emergencies

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—Governor Lehman today ordered immediate "practice blackouts" for all cities in New York.

The governor telegraphed mayors of all municipalities telling them that "information in regard to uniform air raid warning signals and all clear signals should be issued immediately and given wide publicity."

"People should be informed through the press and radio in advance of the practice blackouts," the governor directed. "You should consult with the chairman of your local defense council and keep in close communication with Major General John F. O'Ryan, state director of civilian defense in Albany."

The governor's order came as the State Defense Council prepared for its first war-time meeting for extension of precautions already inaugurated to protect civilians and industry against attack. Story on Page 9.

Meantime, all state W.P.A. construction on non-defense projects has ordered to "close off as rapidly as possible" and district and county offices were placed on a six-day work week.

State W.P.A. Administrator Lester W. Herzog said the orders were given so that labor and "critical material" can be used in defense activity. The longer work-week, he explained, would permit "carrying out emergency orders from Washington at any time."

Since early summer W.P.A. administrative employees have been working a five-day, 40-hour week. The new regulations will require an eight hour work day from Monday through Friday with Saturday working hours from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.

W.P.A. employment quotas, Herzog added, are subject to upward adjustment if defense requirements indicate need of additional workers.

Reds Say in Any Event They Will Grant No Reprieve in Snug Winter Quarters

(By The Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler's invasion armies, thwarted in their violent two-months-old drive against Moscow, were officially acknowledged today to have withdrawn to winter lines in sector after sector along the Russian battlefield front.

Stirring speculation that Hitler may be up to some new trickery, a Berlin spokesman said the Nazi push eastward was through until spring.

"Germany has no strategic ambitions this winter," he said, adding that because of the withdrawals to "better defensive positions" it was possible that the Russians had occupied Tikhvin, strategic rail center, 110 miles southeast of Leningrad.

Soviet quarters in London were quick to point out that the German admission might be an artifice to hide other plans; and, at any rate, the Russians declared they had no intention of letting the Germans dig in for what comfort they could find in snug trench dugouts. A new Soviet field army of 500,000 troops, specially equipped for the sub-zero warfare about which the Nazis have complained so bitterly, was reported being formed to bolster the Russian counter-offensive.

Official Soviet dispatches said the Germans had been "blasted from Tikhvin—not voluntarily withdrawn, as the Nazis asserted—in a 10-day battle which cost them 7,000 dead."

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—Attorney General Biddle said today that 2,303 Germans, Italians and Japanese had been seized by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and were being held temporarily by immigration officials.

Biddle said at a press conference that the aliens would be given into the permanent custody of the army, as in the last war, after their status had been determined by the civilian boards of review in all parts of the country.

The "enemy aliens" seized include 865 Germans, 147 Italians and 1,291 Japanese.

The attorney general said that the arrests made in this country were all completed two hours after the order and in Hawaii within three hours after the order.

Some of those seized will be paroled after a study of their cases, the attorney general said.

United States army and navy forces have blasted a sea-borne Japanese attack against the west coast of Luzon Island in the Philippines, the War Department said today, but other Japanese troops have effected a landing on the north end of the island in the first full-fledged enemy landing on American soil since the War of 1812.

Dispatches from Manila quoted the Philippine constabulary as saying Japanese parachute troops had captured Vigan, on the coast 200 miles northwest of Manila.

Two waves of Japanese bombers raided Manila and its suburbs, pounding military centers including Nichols Air Field, Fort McKinley and the Nielson airport districts. This was shortly after noon, Wednesday, Manila time.

Manila dispatches said American and Filipino troops had gone into swift action against Japanese invaders who landed at Aparri, on the far north coast.

Hovering Off Coast
U. S. Army headquarters reported that Japanese troop transports and naval forces in great numbers were hovering off the north coast on a 150-mile stretch from Vigan to Aparri.

In Washington, the War Department, issuing its first communique of the war, said the army and navy had smothered a Japanese attack on still another section of Luzon—between Vigan and San Fernando to the south.

The War Department's communique was based on "information received last night" from Manila, but in view of the 13-hour time difference between Manila and Washington it apparently referred to action of Wednesday morning, Manila time.

Associated Press dispatches from Manila definitely placed the landings as occurring this morning (Wednesday, Dec. 10), Manila time. When it is Wednesday (Continued on Page 10)

Bridge Tolls Are Cut by Authority

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—A basic reduction from 50 to 35 cents of tolls on three Hudson river bridges was announced today by Governor Lehman.

The spans involved are the Mid-Hudson at Poughkeepsie, the Rip Van Winkle at Catskill and the Bear Mountain Bridge, on which rates were reduced in a resolution adopted by the New York State Bridge Authority.

The resolution has been approved by State Comptroller Joseph V. O'Leary and Arthur W. Brandt, state superintendent of public works.

Lehman attributed the reductions to refinancing operations permitted under an amendment to the New York State Bridge Authority Act enacted by the last legislature and approved by the chief executive the new rates, effective January 1, include reductions also in commuters' and other fares.

Consumers Should Know—

(5) What Is the Consumer Movement?

(Copyright 1941, Advertising Federation of America)

This is the fifth in a series of six articles prepared by the Bureau of Research and Education of the Advertising Federation of America, in response to the increasing interest of consumers in questions affecting advertising and business.

Words are sometimes confusing. There has been a good deal of talk in the past few years about a new thing called the consumer movement. You can find articles about it in some of the magazines and you may have heard about its being discussed in various kinds of meetings.

Practically all of us are consumers and are therefore naturally interested in any movement by consumers or for consumers.

So it is clear that any movement on behalf of consumers is not in any way a class movement. It cannot be a movement working only for the narrow interests of a particular group.

In any individual transaction, of course it is true that there is a producer on the one hand, and a consumer on the other. For instance, when you purchase a loaf of bread from the baker, you are the consumer of the bread and he is the producer. But at the same time, Mr. Baker has to buy groceries for his family, too, and then he is a consumer. And when you or other members of your family go out to earn a living the chances are that you are producers too, either directly or indirectly.

Any movement on behalf of consumers should benefit all of us in connection with our buying goods from one another. All of us earn our living through the operations of industry, including farmers, factory workers, school teachers, policemen, and everybody else. In that sense we all are producers or are supported by producers. And since none of us produces all the goods needed for his own use, we are all consumers too.

There is a great deal of information that we ought to have about the products we buy. Even though we will always be guided mostly by our personal tastes and preferences, there is a good deal of room for improvement in our buying habits. This is the chief reason why we have a consumer movement.

The whole purpose of consumer activities is to make us better buyers. If this purpose can be accomplished, and of course it can then everybody will benefit, including the stores and factories which provide the goods.

The activities which make up the consumer movement have sprung up very rapidly. When the need for this type of work was first recognized, numerous individuals and groups set out to do their various bits.

As soon as the idea became popular it was taken up by schools and colleges, many of which installed courses in what they called consumer education. It is now claimed that over half of all colleges and high school give some kind of instruction in consumer problems.

Women's clubs everywhere have enthusiastically adopted projects for consumer education. In fact, the development in this part of the field has been so great that the consumer movement may almost be said to be a women's activity. The importance of women as family purchasing agents is well-known to business men and they can readily understand why the consumer movement is largely in the hands of women. Most certainly this is one place where the ladies are the dominant sex.

Among women's clubs it has been estimated that organizations with total membership of twenty million participate actively in consumer programs of one kind or another. What they do mostly is to study consumer literature and listen to lectures about consumer problems. A number of the national women's organizations prepare informative material for the education of their members. The stated aim is to promote better buymanship.

Among the larger women's groups participating in this work are such nationally known organizations as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the American Home Economics Association, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

When the National Recovery Administration was operating in Washington, it appointed a Consumers' Advisory Board and local consumer councils were set up in many hundred places throughout the United States. Some of these did effective work for a time but most of them are no longer in existence.

The Department of Agriculture also set up a Consumers' Council, which is still in operation and issues a considerable amount of literature about everyday problems of buying merchandise.

In addition, many of the 48 state governments sponsor consumer education of various kinds. More recently, a number of business groups have given recognition to the constructive purposes of the consumer movement and actively cooperated by furnishing information and by helping to solve consumer buying problems. This kind of cooperation is essential, because some of the problems require changes in merchandise and in distribution methods.

With all that has been said and written about the consumer movement, a large part of the general public has a very confused idea as to what it is all about. This is because so many different kinds of individuals are interested in the movement, many with conflicting motives.

But it is not hard to interpret the main objectives of those millions who make up the rank and file of the broad consumer movement.

They are simply a lot of people interested in getting three things:

(1) Information that will help them spend their money more effectively.

(2) Greater consideration by sellers for the interests of buyers, and

(3) Better protection against intentional fraud.

These are very constructive aims and all intelligent business men are ready to cooperate in achieving them. After all, business executives know that every enterprise must please the public to be a successful business. There was a time when that was not always thought necessary, but nowadays, when selling has become the most important problem in business management, the foremost objective of every business is to secure public approval and good will. Most business is highly competitive and generally the company which can please the greatest number of potential buyers will sell the most goods.

If consumers want more information about products then it would seem that any company could please more people and sell more goods by meeting this demand. The only problem here is to find the best method for giving this information and to determine exactly what kind of information is wanted. One difficulty is that consumers are not all alike, even in the matter of wanting information.

There have been many discussions about this between representatives of consumer groups and business men. Some of the best ideas to come from such discussions have to do with labels. It would seem that a label is a practical place to put useful information about a product. Some companies have already started to put more complete descriptions and specifications on their labels, and others are now studying the question.

In certain lines of goods it has been found possible to establish more definite grades for the quality of products. This is sometimes very difficult, however, because of the many elements that go into the actual desirability of a given article. On some products, the variation in personal tastes makes it quite impossible to establish universal grades. However, a good deal of work is being done in this field, and we may expect further progress.

Another suggestion frequently brought forward is that advertising should contain more specific information about products. In some cases this can readily be arranged, but here again we run into difficulty that there are so many different kinds of people, and advertising must be written so it will appeal to the greatest number. Many of us would be bored by specifications and are more interested in what a product will do for us. But it is a good subject for discussion, and advertisers are glad to have specific suggestions from representative consumers on this point.

One result that has already come from the demand for more information about products is the preparation of many informative booklets explaining the characteristics and uses of various products. A number of organizations and individual companies have issued very helpful material along this line, and more of it is to be expected.

On the side of protection against intentional fraud, much progress has been made. Laws for this purpose have been brought up to date, and organizations set up by business men themselves watch for violators.

One of the most important laws for protection of consumers is the new Food and Drugs Act, strengthening the old law which has been in operation since 1906 and extending it to cover cos-

Mistletoe May Mean Marriage in 1941

You can always get someone to help you hang mistletoe . . . by paying for the service. Mistletoe changes from parasite to paradise about this time every year. Already from the mistletoe state of Oklahoma, from Texas and from New Mexico, most of the American mistletoe is coming from treetop to your chandelier. From the west coast mistletoe travels packed in ice like fragile flowers. No priorities, treat caterpillars nor metics as well as foods and medicines.

Another recently enacted law for consumer protection is the Wheeler-Lea Act, which gives the Federal Trade Commission wide powers to prevent and punish harmful practices in advertising and selling methods.

In addition, many states now have laws protecting buyers of merchandise against fraud. For example, about 34 states prohibit by law any false or misleading advertising. These measures were adopted on the initiative of Advertising Clubs in the various states.

Among organizations guarding the interests of consumer buyers, the most active and effective are the Better Business Bureaus located in many cities. Most of these were originally set up by Advertising Clubs and all are supported entirely by business organizations.

The federal and state governments also maintain various kinds of bureaus to protect the public against harmful products and fraudulent practices.

Considered all together, a great deal is now being done on behalf of the individual buyer of retail merchandise. What the consumer movement is concerned with is to increase the effectiveness of all these activities, in order to help the individual purchaser buy more intelligently and with greater assurance of satisfaction.

With the active cooperation of business organizations, the consumer movement should prove a constructive influence, helping to shape future progress in producing and distributing goods.

New Recruits for Army

Freeman Photo

About 25 men appeared at the local recruiting station in the central post office building yesterday morning to enlist in the U. S. Army, and of this amount six passed the examination and will leave for New York city soon. Sergeant Spangberg, in charge of the army recruiting station, said that most of the physical defects found among applicants were poor teeth and poor eyesight. Shown in the above photo are the new recruits: left to right are Morgan Schoonmaker, 20, Kingston; Robert Landgrebe, 27, West Hurley; Warren Carney, 21, Marletown; Ralph Miller, 21, Kingston; Bob Christians, 21, Kingston; front, Carson Emberson, Jr., 18, St. Remy. The boys did not have any special statements to make. Sergeant Spangberg said that hereafter the recruiting office at Room 201, P.O. building, will remain open from 7:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. except Saturdays, when the hours will be 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. War Cabinet Has Meeting With F. D. R.

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt called a meeting of his war cabinet this morning.

Summoned to the White House were Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Stimson, Under Secretary James V. Forrestal, representing the navy department, Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles, General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations.

There was no immediate indication of the exact purpose of the meeting. The President for months has been conferring regularly with virtually the same group.

Gregory K. Zhukov's Red armies had killed 1,400 Germans, captured seven villages in the Kalinin sector, 95 miles northwest of the capital, and wiped out more than 600 Nazis in counter-blows around Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow.

Reports reaching London indicated that the Germans were falling back to new positions as much as 100 miles west of Moscow's defense arc, apparently planning to dig in on a line extending through Rzhev, Vyazma, Mechok and Orel.

The Moscow radio said three German divisions—about 45,000 troops—had been sent into chaotic flight in the battle of Tikhvin. "The remainder of these divisions have taken on peasant clothing, thrown away their equipment, and are trying to escape through the woods," the radio said. "Our booty is great."

On the North African front, the British announced a new junction between the long-sieged Tobruk garrison and the main British imperial forces at El Adem, and declared that Axis forces were retreating more rapidly westward "under the vigorous pressure of our forces."

Cairo headquarters said British troops had recaptured Gambut, coastal base 40 miles east of Tobruk, but admitted that strong German and Italian forces remained on the western perimeter of Tobruk's defenses.

A British spokesman said Axis troops still held three strong points along the Egyptian frontier—Bardia, Halfaya and Ghirba—but declared the doom of these last centers or organized Axis resistance in eastern Libya "seems inevitable."

Premier Mussolini's high command reported sharp fighting in the Tobruk zone and at Salum, near the Egyptian-Libyan border, where increasing British pressure was acknowledged.

At sea, the Fascist high command said an Italian ship with 2,000 British prisoners aboard had been torpedoed off the coast of Greece and that rescue operations were still under way.

Poughkeepsie Recruiting Officer Is Kept Busy

Word received this morning at the recruiting station in the post office building stated that the naval recruiting officer in Poughkeepsie was so busy that he would be unable to come to Kingston on Thursday, as had been expected.

However, Chief Petty Officer McGuire is to be here on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock to interview those who desire to enlist in the Navy.

It was stated that there were some 18 or 20 men who already had applied for enlistment in the Navy and presumably there will be additions to that number by Saturday.

Conviction Is Reversed

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—The first degree murder conviction of Irving Nitzberg, a member of the notorious Murder, Inc., was reversed today by New York's Court of Appeals and a new trial ordered on the ground testimony against him had not been properly corroborated. The decision was by 4 to 3. Nitzberg was one of the Brooklyn crime syndicate prosecuted by Kings County District Attorney William J. O'Dwyer. He was convicted June 2, for the killing January 9, 1939, of Albert Shuman, alleged police informer.

Japs Gain Point By Knowing How To Speak English

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 10 (AP)—A Harvard University linguist said today Japan has at least one advantage over the United States—the ability of a vast number of her military officers to speak English, while only a handful of United States army and navy men understand Japanese.

This is bound to give Nippon an edge in questioning war prisoners, translating intercepted messages and in obtaining information from material found on men fallen in action. Dr. Erwin O. Reischauer, authority on Far Eastern languages, declared in an interview. "Assuming that the compulsory study of English in the Japanese schools thus has given the enemy a strategic advantage, Reischauer said that, currently, only a few hundred American students were studying Japanese because only eight American colleges offer such courses.

He said that the six men on the Harvard faculty now teaching Japanese were prepared to expand their classes as quickly as possible to help break "this language bottleneck," and although the number of students of Japanese has tripled since last summer, "it's hardly the sort of thing a student jumps into overnight."

Heads Trotting Winners

Goshen, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—Franklin Safford of Keene, N. H., was the leading trotting and pacing driver in 1941 with 117 victories, the United States Trotting Association announced today. Safford, who drove exclusively in New England, topped Houston Stone of Duquoin, Ill., by eight victories. Dr. H. M. Parshall of Urbana, Ohio, who finished out of the top spot for only the third time since 1926, was second to Tom Berry among the grand circuit drivers. Berry won 41 heats and Parshall 36.

Two Arrested

Two arrests were made by the police department last night. William Waterman, 34, of Granite Court, was charged with public intoxication, and held for a hearing later, while William Lynch of Herkimer was charged with passing a red traffic light. He furnished bail for his appearance later in city court.

Service League Meets

The Service League of the First Presbyterian Church held its December meeting in the church parlor Tuesday afternoon, December 9. There was a devotional service with carols and Christmas scripture led by Mrs. William S. Jackson, after which business was transacted. Reports showed the turkey dinner had been a huge success, both socially and financially. The Christmas program was in charge of Mrs. William J. McVey, who told at length how Christmas was observed in other countries under normal conditions. The next meeting of the League will be held January 6.

Hitch-Hike Technique

Is Taught in College

AUSTIN, TEXAS. — College students in the Southwest now will have skilled technique in thumbing rides.

Keyes Carson Jr., Texas Aggie senior and president of the National Hitchhikers association, visited other Texas colleges, organized chapters and gave instruction in sure-fire methods to get a lift.

To University of Texas students Carson explained some of the aids to getting a ride. A smile and use of a "hitch-hiker's arsenal," will double or triple the chances, Carson said.

The first tool taken from the arsenal, he explained, is a small telescope. Taking position where a clear view of the road is available, approaching cars are checked through it.

Another aid is a small reflector sign held up for the motorist to see. It gives the hitch-hiker's name and where he wants to go.

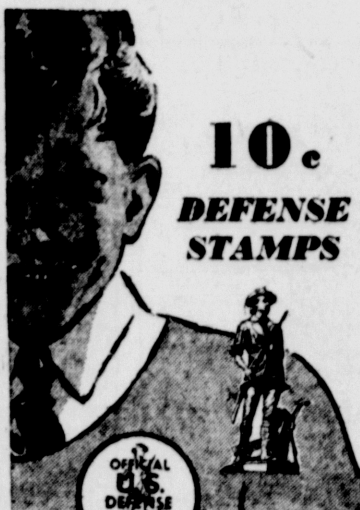

"Always smile when asking for a ride," he advised the students. "Every one likes to see a smile and they like to see someone who looks like an appreciative person."

He has tested his equipment and approach in nearly 217,000 miles of hitch-hiking.

Soldiers Hit Jackpot

In Dispensing Machine

CAMP WOLTERS, TEXAS. — There was a great deal of scurrying and scampering in the office of the Camp Wolters motor pool the other day. Primed with two nickels, a soft-drink dispensing machine in the office gave out with three cases of pop before it was empty.

FOREIGNERS MUST GO

Mexico is planning to repatriate 1,530 foreign technicians, working in various industries throughout the country, as soon as the war ends. Many workers of Mexico City asked the Secretary of Labor if these foreigners were to be sent home as soon as they taught the work to Mexicans, and the Secretary of Labor has issued an assurance that they would when war conditions permit. Most of the technicians are French, Italian, German and Japanese who have been teaching

Mexicans knitting, and the manufacture of paper, beer and other things.

Dollar Saving
"Selling is telling," that's what men say.
Telling of dreams come true; Of laying away for some golden day.
Our dollars—many or few.

Life is a highway along which we drive.
Some thoughtless and careless, 'tis true;
While others are planning, the far distance scanning.
With old-age provision in view.

If "selling is telling" then speak loud and clear.
To warn all on life's swift way Of dangers impending from over free spending
Of dollars that come today.

Yes, "selling is telling" that miles quickly
To the end of life's winding road;
And "the dollars we save are the dollars we'll have"
To lighten the old-age load.

A good-natured traveler asked a Pullman porter the amount of his average tip. The negro replied that the average amount was one dollar. The man handed him a one dollar bill. The porter creased the bill affectionately and said, "Yassuh, boss, but you is the first yassuh what has come up to de average."

Newly-wed husband (severely)—Dear, the bank has returned that check.
Bride—Oh, isn't that splendid! What can we buy with it this time?

An idea about the "brotherhood of man" usually surges within us when we begin to feel the need of help.

A friend met a cheerful Irishman who had plainly suffered hard knocks.
"Well Pat, how are you getting on now?" he inquired.
"Oh, O'm still hard up, but O've a fine job in Honolulu, and fare paid. O, sail tomorrow."

"Sure, man, you'll never be able to work there. The temperature is 100 in the shade."

Pat had cheerfully endured too much to be discouraged.
"Well," he replied, hopefully, "O'll not be workin' in the shade all the time."

A young man who works his way through college is very likely to be able to work his way through life.

Gal—Would you come to my aid in distress?
Gob—My dear, it wouldn't make any difference to me what you were wearing.

Many a man proudly says he is a citizen of the United States when he hardly does more than reside in this country.

True, he was born here, has lived here, voted and done business here, and so on.

But being a citizen is more than being a resident. One must discharge all civic and political obligations to city, state and nation.

Citizenship is being a part of the "body politic" of the country and playing that part to the very best of one's ability, assuming every responsibility that may be required.

He—You are always wishing for what you haven't got.
She—What else can one wish for?

The girl next door says that life is made up of getting and giving and forgetting and forgiving.

Lawyer (Paternalistically to client anxious for divorce)—My dear young lady, occasional tiffs are bound to occur in your married life. But think of the joy to be got out of it.

Client—Exactly. Get me out of it.

Chapter 19 The Doctor Comes

"MY dear man," Rankin answered, "it's got nothing to do with their getting along with each other. They simply don't know each other. They move in different spheres, that's all. As far as their interests and lives and friends and activities are concerned, they live in two different worlds!"

To Asey, who had seen both women, Rankin's statement seemed reasonable enough, but Hanson shook his head.
"Seems queer that two women living in the same place wouldn't have anything to do with each other! Mrs. Hingham must have heard a shot, anyway! Was she the only one there, Asey?"

"Except for the Doane girl and her father," Asey said. "Mrs. Doane says she was at the gas station—you might check up on that, an' if she was around all the time the lights was out."
"I'll tell one of the boys to drop around there when I call back to the barracks," Hanson said. "Asey, I can't excuse Mrs. Doane's moving this body because she was afraid her inn business'd be ruined if its name got mixed up with a killing. Why, there was a murder at an inn in Pochet a couple of years ago, and offhand, I can't remember the name of the place. I don't believe anyone remembers it. I can't—"

"I think I hear Cummings's car," Asey said. "Wait—I'll go see."

When he reached the portico, the short, stocky figure of Dr. Cummings was already bustling up the front steps.

"Hi, Doc," Asey said. "Come around this way."

"Hello," Cummings said. "Why does it always happen like this, I wonder? You go away, and life is peaceful and restful and relaxed, and then you come back, and it hails, and there's murder. Dropped some weight rushing around with Bill, haven't you, Asey, what's the matter with your Cousin Jennie? She said Olive Beadle had been shot!"

"She has," Asey told him. "Then there must be two Olive Beadles," Cummings said with finality. "The one I know is a schoolteacher. Been here for years. They call her the perennial boarder. She's due in my office tomorrow afternoon for her annual shot of poison-ivy vaccine. Wears steel-rimmed glasses. You mean her, Asey? You can't mean her. What's this Olive Beadle of yours look like?"

"It's the same one," Asey assured him. "She's around back here, under a Boston rocker on the porch. She's been shot in the back."

"Now I know you're wrong!" Cummings said. "I tell you, I know Miss Olive, Asey, and she's not the sort to get murdered. No one would shoot her. Not in the back, anyway! I think somebody's slipped up on your identification here—hello, Hanson. Here lo, Mr. Rankin. Got over those bilious attacks last fall all right, did you? Where's the body?"

Hanson displayed it to him. Cummings set down his inevitable little black bag, put his hands on his hips, and started in honest amazement.

"By George!" he said. "It's Miss Olive, all right! Humph, I'm so dumfounded, I'm utterly speechless. Never in my life was I more dumfounded than I am at this very moment. Why—"

Surprise
Asey interrupted his monologue several minutes later with the suggestion that he stop being speechless and get to work.

"Here's some things we'd sort of like to find out about, Doc. Where'd you want us to move the body, inside?"

Cummings nodded. "Ordinarily, I'd say wait for the ambulance. But I liked Miss Olive, and I don't like to see her out here like this, Olive Beadle! Of all the people in this world to be shot in the back! Miss Olive!"

A few minutes later, Hanson was protesting the doctor's choice of a room.

"This looks like somebody's bedroom, Doc. You think you ought to use it?"

"It's the only bedroom I can find," Cummings returned. "Never saw such a place! Regular rabbit warren. Halls, halls, halls! Unless you want to stand and hold her, put her in here, and then go find Mrs. Doane and warn her I'm using this room—why isn't she around? Where is everyone? I thought you said Jennie was here, Asey. Where's she?"

Asey shook his head. "Marvelous organizers, you and Hanson!" Cummings said. "Called Carey yet? Hanson, haven't you even called Carey? Well, go call him, man go call him!"

"I was going to call him," Hanson said, "when I phoned for the boys to come, Doc."

"Haven't you got anyone here yet? What in the world have you people been doing! Where's my bag? Don't let's dally any longer! Rankin, get my bag from the porch, will you?"

"I brought it in," Rankin pointed.
"Well, then, why don't all of you get out and stop getting in the way!" Cummings said. "Close the door behind you!"

"Peppery tonight, isn't he?" Rankin said as he and Asey started up the hall toward the living room.

"He feels bad about this," Asey said. "I don't know as I ever seen him quite so indignant. Huh, I wonder what become of Jennie? An' where's that girl Freddy, that was been sent out to tell me things so long ago? I—"

"Asey!" Cummings stuck his head out of the bedroom door. "Asey, come here. I want you! Grabbing Asey by the arm, he pulled him into the bedroom and closed the door.

"What's the matter, Doc?" "You should ask me that! What's the matter with you? What's going on here? What's the big idea?"

WPA to Study Eating Habits

Writers to Turn Talents To Americans in U. S. Defense Series.

WASHINGTON.—The corps of editors and writers employed on WPA Writers' projects, having virtually completed the American Guide series of 50 colorful volumes on 48 states, Alaska and Puerto Rico, are turning now to individual aspects of Americana.

The Guide series, presenting a comprehensive account of the history, culture, economy and detailed touring information of the states and two territories, is to be followed by a volume on American eating habits, a National Defense series, and six regional books on American arts and crafts.

Wide Range Covered.

The 800 titles turned out by the projects, which now employ about 2,300 persons, soon will be increased by "The United States: A Pictorial Study of a Democracy," which will be printed in Spanish and distributed south of the border in another bid for hemispheric solidarity. An English edition may be published later.

The 800 publications range from pamphlets of purely local interest to the American Guide series.

Why does the government spend money for all of these books?

Assistant Works Projects Commissioner Florence Kerr answers: "The urgencies of the present decade make mutual understanding between communities of the nation a prerequisite to national unity. The ultimate goal of the Writers' Program is to contribute to national unity through presenting America to Americans."

The list of publications in the Life in America series will be headed by six regional volumes bearing the title: "Hands That Build the Nation." In these books will be described the native arts and crafts of the people of New England, the Middle Atlantic and Great Lakes states, the Southeast, the central states, the Southwest and the Northwest. Each volume will contain about 40,000 words and have 60 or more illustrations in color.

Food Tastes Studied.

"America Eats" is the title selected tentatively for another volume in the Life in America series, a book devoting one chapter to a community meal typical to some phase of American life—a political barbecue, a church supper, a Rotary luncheon, a clam bake, breakfast in a large city cafeteria, a family reunion dinner and others.

The writers also will attempt to uncover the traditions that link baked beans with Boston, and hot biscuits and fried chicken with the South, and to learn why Westerners are supposed to like fried meats better than roasts.

Other projected volumes include a history of forest conservation, an account of the western rangelands in terms of Indians, Spaniards and American frontiersmen who helped carve a great empire out of a wilderness. A contemporary and historical account of the Indian also will be written.

Two sets of guides and a series of State Health Almanacs are contemplated in the National Defense series. One group of guides will pertain to military and naval academies, the other will be devoted to the larger posts and reservations of the army and the navy.

State's Defense Council Holds Its First War Meeting

Governor Repeats His Plea for Better Post-War World; Parrott Pledges Help

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 10 (AP)—New York's State Defense Council holds its first wartime meeting today to plan an extension of many-faceted precautions already inaugurated against enemy attacks on civilians or industry.

The council, representing the Legislature, industry, labor and agriculture, convened this afternoon with Governor Lehman, who has enlarged the state committee on fire defense from 10 to 15 members under chairmanship of Utica's fire chief and public safety commissioner, Joseph N. Sullivan.

The governor reiterated his determination for a better post-war world last night in an address initiating New York's share in the nationwide infantile paralysis campaign.

"In the pattern of the world to come—after the tumult of war days has passed—certain basic truths remain," he declared, "the world must be freed of brutal tyrants. Human tragedy and human suffering to the best of our human endeavors must be obliterated."

Unity Is Accented
Meantime, the state and nation's unity in the face of attack was accented anew by spokesmen of the church, the political field, labor, agriculture and veterans of the first World War.

At Utica, the Rev. Carlyle Adams, editor of the Presbyterian Tribune and avowed spokesman of the Presbyterian pacifist element, advocated immediate political union of the United States with Great Britain.

"Now that an unprovoked attack has come from without, Christian pacifists may be counted upon to be loyal to their government in war as in peace," he asserted, adding "Christian pacifists in the church have not been unpatriotic and they have definitely not been isolationists."

At Buffalo, State Republican Committee Chairman Edwin F. Jackie told a G.O.P. committee-men's banquet America stands united behind President Roosevelt but "it is our solemn duty during the war as Republicans to maintain our end of the two-party system." Without this system, he said, "our republic could not exist."

Parrott Pledges Resources
Director P. J. Parrott of the State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva pledged full utilization of its resources in the campaign for increased farm production in the national defense effort, in a talk before the State Grange at Rochester.

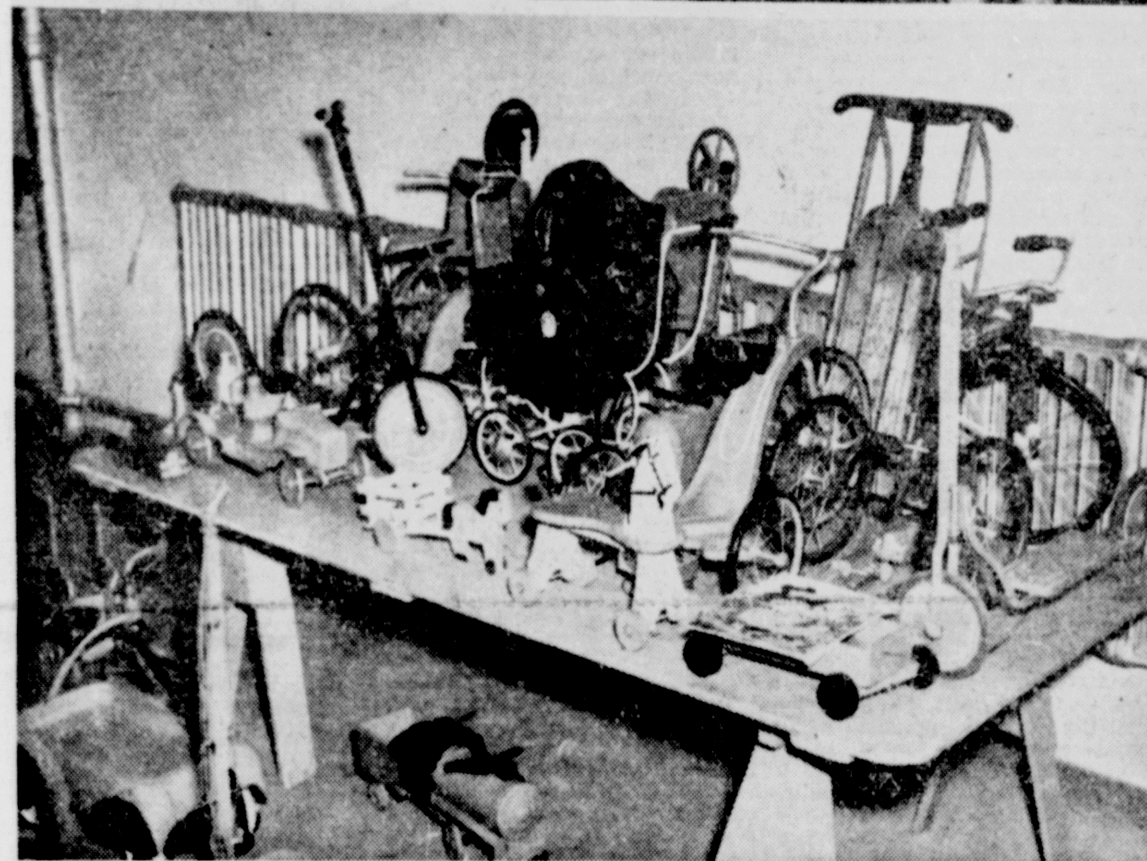

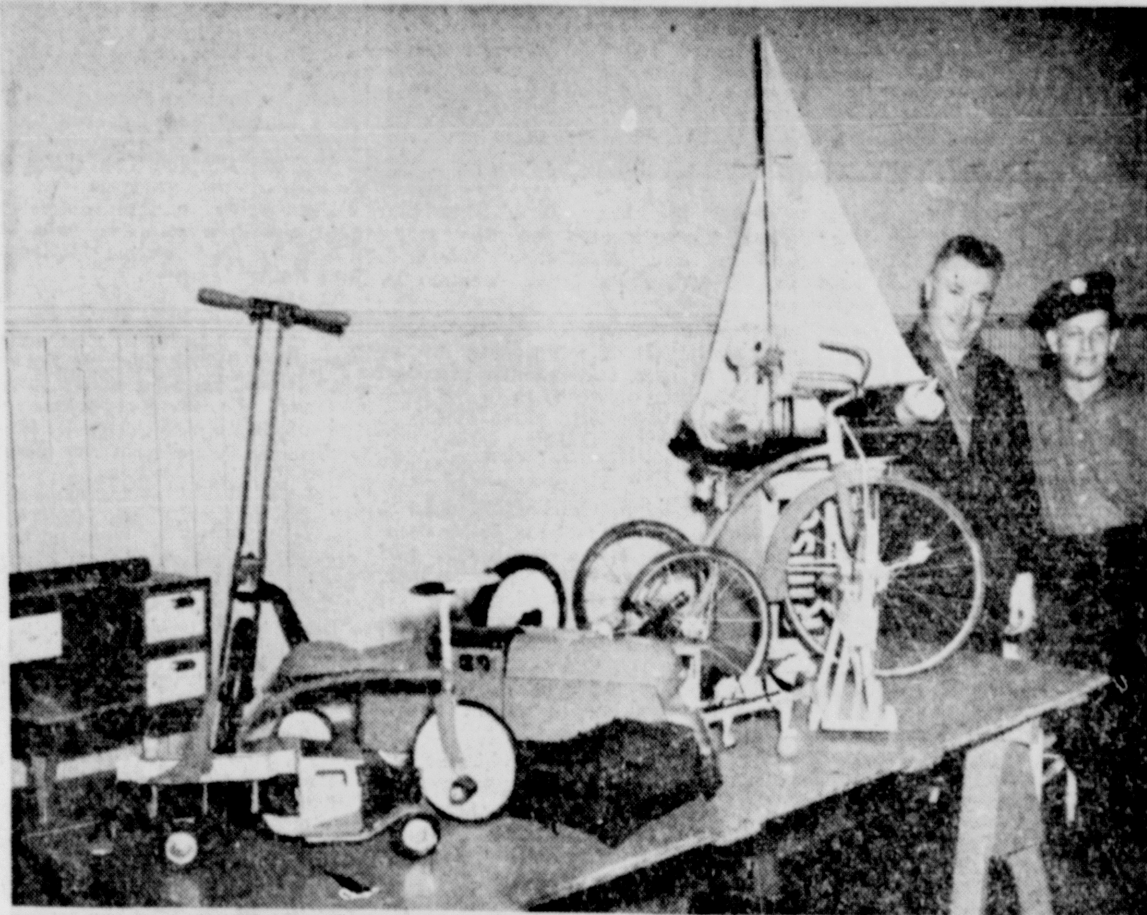

Speaking before 350 Orange county Legionnaires at West Point, State American Legion Commander Jacob Ark. Rochester, urged civilians to "keep from panic" and avoid criticizing tactics of the nation's fighting forces.

Since the first World War, Ark averred, the Legion has been the "foremost organization urging an adequate national defense."

"If the Legion's policy had become the nation's program," he added, "we would not have been the object of that treacherous (Japanese) attack on Sunday."

EIRE RABBITS PAY WELL
Eire's trade in rabbits grows steadily because rabbits are an unrationed food in Britain and because the export trade in rabbit skins is equally important. An unlimited market exists for the skins in Britain, where the fur is turned into felt for hats, and various furs made in imitation of seal, muskrat, and beaver. One Dublin exporter said that if he had fifty million rabbit skins he could dispose of all of them.

New York's Chief Services Are Ready To Continue Functioning Under Raid

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—Girt for war, New York city's vital services—food, transportation, public utilities—are ready to continue functioning on a virtual 100 per cent basis when and if enemy bombs begin to fall.

For two years the men who provide the daily necessities of life for nearly 8,000,000 city dwellers have been working hand in hand with the war and navy departments perfecting plans for any war emergency—and these plans are now complete.

The Department of Markets reported today that because of the long period of preparation there was no danger of any type of a food shortage.

Steps to insure delivery of even such perishables as fresh milk and butter have been taken, the department said, but added that the precise nature of the methods must remain secret.

All of New York's foodstuffs transported in come 50 per cent by truck and 50 per cent by rail or water, and the trucking picture as painted by both over-the-road long-haul truckmen and local carriers is bright.

Operating through the Port of New York Authority, states of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut have made arrangements with the Highway Transport Association, which runs nearly 5,000 trucks into the city daily, to go through certain central points, each about 50 miles from New York.

State troopers at control stations at these points will direct drivers as to which routes to take into the city.

Once in New York, the 3,000 short-haul trucks of the Merchant Truckmen's Bureau will be under direct supervision of the police department. Police, with war authorities, will determine which commodities should get the right of way.

And the railroads have not been idle. At least eight large systems, their terminals scattered so that a bomb hit on one would not affect another, have agreed upon the right of any road to use the stations and terminals of another in an emergency.

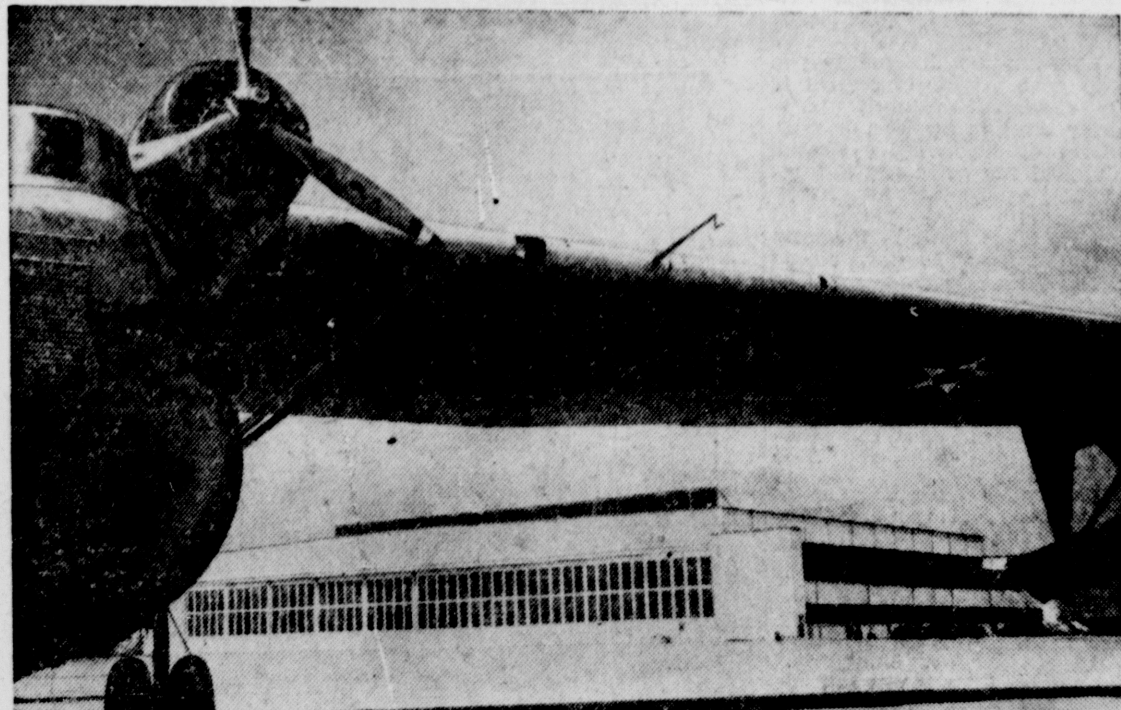

Because of the great number of rail approaches to the city, railroad men said it was inconceivable that all of them could be put out of operation.

Japanese, After All, Not Superhuman, But They Are Busy

Swift Attacks Show How Suicidal Nipponese Attitude Is Toward Warfare

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

The further Japanese successes in the war of the Pacific—notably the sinking of the Great British warships Prince of Wales and Repulse, and the landing of Jap troops in the Philippines—make grim reading for the Allies, but they are far from decisive and needn't cause any discouragement whatever.

Probably there is little danger that we shall allow ourselves to fall under a complex which attributes superhuman capabilities to the enemy, but we should guard against any such tendency. A lot of folk got the superhuman complex regarding the mighty German war-machine, and it was two years before the Russians deflated the invincibility balloon under which much of the continent of Europe (and the peoples of some other countries) sat and shivered.

The Japanese aren't superhuman, despite the fact that in three days of bombing they have inflicted damage which the Germans haven't been able to do in more than two years with what once was the greatest airforce ever created. And what's the answer to that?

The Nipponese fighting machine doesn't compare in power with that of the Nazis. Certainly the Japanese aren't better warriors. I think we have the answer in three points:

The Japanese created a vast advantage by a surprise attack, and have worked with terrific swiftness since the start; their bombers have been favored with a good fortune which hasn't fallen so plentifully even on the Germans with all their skill and power; and they have been fighting a "suicide" war this far, striking widely and with utter disregard for consequences to equipment or their own lives.

Last Is Important
That last point is important. The Nipponese are risking everything in these early hours in an effort to secure an advantage which will carry them through. That type of warfare brings either great rewards or terrible disasters. It is the sort of thing the Japanese are well adapted to, for a people who are endowed with such courage that they don't hesitate to commit hara-kiri to satisfy honor surely aren't going to hesitate to sacrifice themselves in this emergency.

The Japanese are carrying out a strategic program which is Hitlerian in its daring and scope, and it is given to wonder whether Berlin hasn't had a considerable hand in shaping the plans. The line of strategy now begins to take form. Their immediate objectives are the occupation, or at least the immobilization, of the two great Allied naval bases of the Far East—Britain's Singapore and our own Philippines. It is not hit-and-run attack which the Japanese have made on these strongholds.

The British Battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse were sunk in a naval engagement off the Malayan peninsula above Singapore, and there is heavy land fighting in Malaya between the British and Japs. The enemy apparently have made one or more landings in Luzon, the Philippines, and Berlin reports a great naval battle between our ships and Japanese off Manila.

If the Japanese could knock out both the Philippines and Singapore, they would have secured command of all those waters.

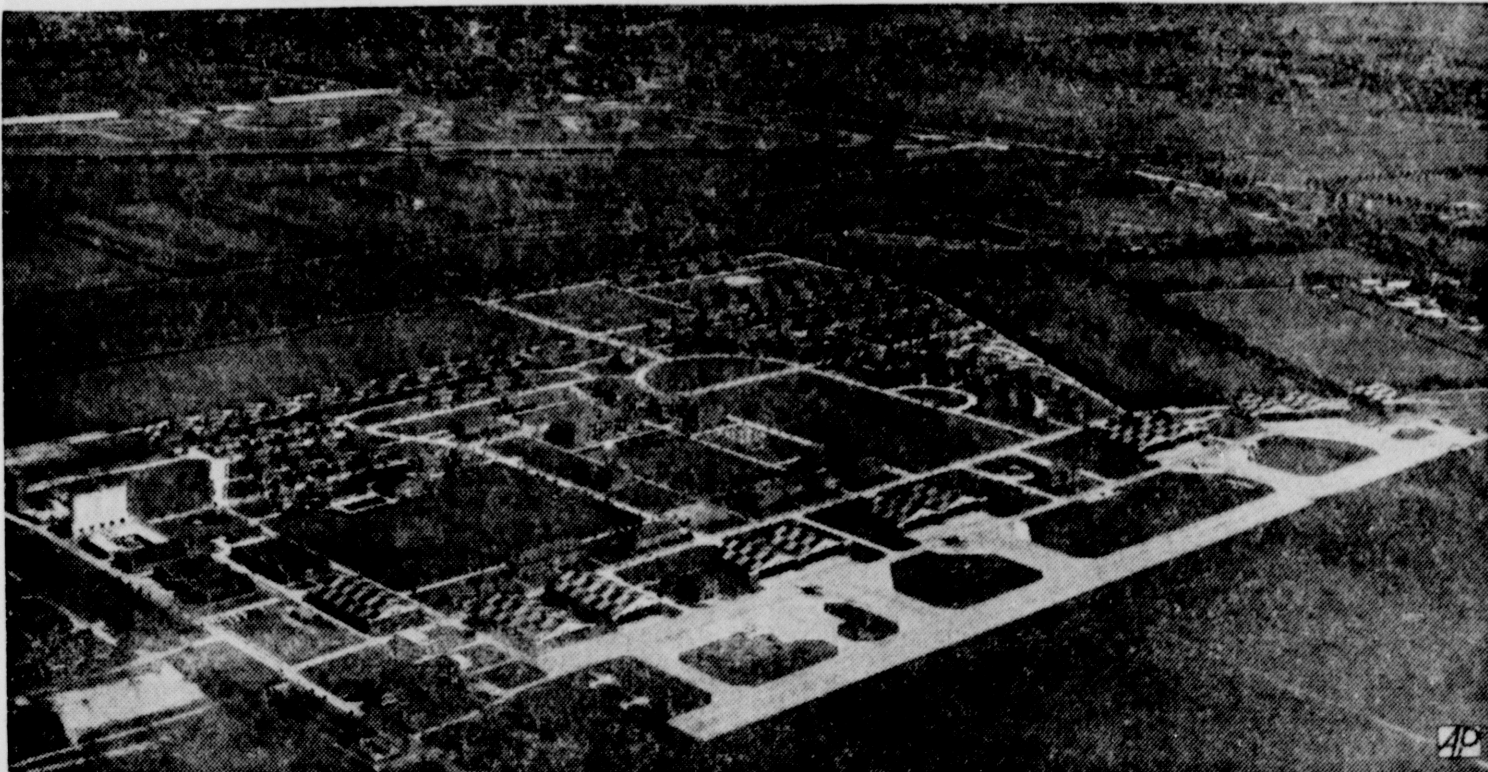

The object of the Japanese assault on the narrow Malayan peninsula is twofold: To give them a land base from which to strike at Singapore, which lies at the end of the peninsula, and to cut the lifeline between Singapore and British Burma, against which the Japanese likely will fling an attack.

But beyond these immediate objectives, which are so essential for success, lies another—the Dutch East Indies with their wealth of supplies. For long now the Japanese have made no bones of admitting that they would immediately strike for the Indies if America cut off its shipment of essential supplies to Nippon—as has been done.

Japan has been dependent upon the United States for the bulk of its vital war supplies. There is only one direction in which the Japs can now turn, and that's to the Dutch East Indies. Unless the resources of the Indies can be tapped, Nippon will soon be in a dangerous position.

WATCH FOLLOWS OWNER
Losing his watch on a beach in Greece, a wounded New Zealand army officer had it returned to him by a soldier occupying an adjacent bed in a hospital in Wellington, N. Z. The officer lost the timepiece when an enemy bullet shattered his wrist and severed a wrist strap. It was later picked up by a wounded New Zealand soldier. Both men were sent to the Wellington hospital for treatment. When a nurse borrowed the watch worn by the soldier the ownership was revealed.

U. S. Blasts Japanese Raid

noon in Manila it is 11 p. m. Tuesday in Washington.

In the Far East, Japanese troops thrusting into northern Malaya from Thailand apparently have captured the British air base of Kota Bharu, on the Thailand border.

A Singapore communique said British troops had "now reorganized south of Kota Bharu" after heavy fighting.

The War Department's communique on the attempted Japanese landing on the 75-mile stretch between San Fernando and Vigan indicated that only U. S. army and navy planes, not warships, repulsed the attack.

Previously, a German broadcast had reported without confirmation that a great sea battle between the United States and Japanese navies was raging off Manila.

Manila, the Philippine capital, is on Luzon Island.

"Our first bombing attacks on six transports at Vigan resulted in direct hits on three hostile ships and damage to the remaining three. One ship capsized and sinking immediately," the war department said.

The communique was the first report of an American victory in the 4-day-old conflict now flaming across thousands of miles in the Pacific.

Dutch Give Help Far to the southwest, the Dutch Indies rushed powerful reinforcements of warships and planes into the battle of the nation widely while in Japan, the nation widely celebrated crushing blows to Britain's Asiatic fleet—the acknowledged sinking of the new 35,000-ton British battleship Prince of Wales and the 32,000-ton cruiser Repulse off the Malay coast.

British Minister Alfred Duff Cooper announced in a broadcast from Singapore that there had been considerable loss of life on the Prince of Wales and the Repulse.

The two ships carried a normal complement totaling more than 3,000 officers and men.

With the Japanese striking savagely to drive down the Malay peninsula against Singapore, dispatches from the Far East said Dutch bombers and fighters had already joined British, Australian and New Zealand airmen who have been pounding Japanese transports and land bases in southern Thailand since dawn Monday.

Dutch warships have also gone into action against the invaders, the dispatches said, battling to check Japan's sharpest new threat to Singapore at Kuantan, on the Malay east coast 200 miles north of Singapore.

Most of the Netherlands' fleet was stationed in the East Indies when Holland capitulated to Adolf Hitler's invasion armies last summer, and presumably these forces were now aiding the British.

Official Tokyo quarters, denying purported United States claims of the sinking of a Japanese aircraft carrier off Hawaii, said American observers "might have seen a United States vessel believed to be the U. S. S. Enterprise (19,900-ton aircraft carrier) sink after being hit by Japanese bombs and mistaken it for a Japanese warship."

Japanese headquarters acknowledged the loss of two transports, two damaged and 13 army planes destroyed. The navy had previously admitted 38 Japanese naval planes missing.

A Tokyo war bulletin said the Prince of Wales and the Repulse were sunk within 21 minutes of each other in a battle with Japanese bombers, north of Singapore, in the most disastrous single blow to the British navy in the whole war.

No details were available immediately on the fate of the crews of the two great warships, normally exceeding 3,000 men.

Troops Swarm at Luzon The double blow to Britain's Far East fleet, officially confirmed by the London admiralty, came as sea-borne Japanese troops swarmed into the Philippine island of Luzon at Aparri, 400 miles north of Manila, and possibly at other nearby points.

A bulletin from the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, U. S. commander in the Philippines, said the Japanese forced landings under a hail of bombs dropped by American warplanes.

One Japanese transport was sunk with heavy casualties, it was announced, and three others were damaged, and three more possibly were hit.

A Tokyo communique, quoted by the German radio, said Japanese submarines sank a 15,000-ton U. S. transport in Manila Bay yesterday and that Japanese naval units sank an American submarine off the Island of Palau, 180 miles east of the Philippines.

Reception for Monsignor Drury

Tuesday evening the members of St. Mary's Church parish tendered the Very Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, pastor of the church, a reception in St. Mary's Hall. Those seated on the stage, left to right are: The Right Rev. Monsignor John J. Stanley, the Very Rev. Monsignor Edward J. Nilan of Ellenville, Joseph P. Sullivan, Gustav Kogel and William D. Cashin and James F. Dwyer, trustees of the church.

"The enemy is in heavy force off the northern Luzon coast, extending from Vigan to Aparri," said a communique from General MacArthur's headquarters.

Six Japanese transports, escorted by large naval units and aircraft, were reported engaged in landing operations off Vigan at 7:30 a. m. (6:30 p. m., E. S. T., Tuesday).

Vigan is on the west coast of Luzon, 200 miles north of Manila; Aparri is 200 miles north of Vigan.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters, whose announcement of the sea victory over the British off Malay stirred wild excitement in Japan, said the battle cruiser Repulse sank instantly after bomb hits at 2:29 p. m. today Tokyo time (12:29 a. m., E. S. T.).

The Prince of Wales was hit and listed to starboard, tried to escape but was bombed again and sank at 2:50 p. m. (12:50 a. m., E. S. T.). The first known sinking of any warship of its size by aerial bombardment.

A British admiralty statement said the warships went down "while carrying out operations against the Japanese attack on Malaya." The Prince of Wales, flying the flag of admiral of the fleet Sir Tom Phillips, commander of the British Asiatic fleet, had steamed proudly into Singapore harbor last week at the head of a flotilla to reinforce the British "Gibraltar of the Far East."

Claims Are Sweeping As Japanese crowds celebrated the victory, imperial Tokyo headquarters declared with more enthusiasm than accuracy that the sinkings virtually "obliterated" Britain's Far East fleet.

With this in mind, it constituted one of the heavy Allied losses which both President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have warned must be expected before victory.

Protection against air attack was a special feature of the armor of the Prince of Wales, one of the vessels which assisted the German battleship Bismarck to her death in the North Atlantic after she had destroyed the British battle cruiser Hood last May.

A declaration by Adolf Hitler on Germany's policy towards Japan's war with the United States and Britain was awaited in Berlin. The Tokyo radio said British troops from Burma had engaged the Japanese expeditionary force in Thailand.

Chinese news dispatches said the Chinese troops of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had launched an offensive against Japanese-held China.

China, which has stood up under four years of undeclared hostilities with Japan, formally declared war upon the Rising Sun Empire and Axis-allied Germany and Italy as well, effective last midnight.

Pan American Airways announced that all its personnel had been withdrawn to Honolulu from Wake Island, U. S. possession in mid-Pacific, claimed by the Tokyo high command along with Guam.

Cuba formally declared war upon Japan, Argentina opened her neutral ports to United States warships, and Chile announced an agreement with Argentina for fortification of the Straits of Magellan, where German raiders sheltered at times in the World War.

German Spy Executed London, Dec. 10 (AP)—A German spy was executed this morning at Wandsworth Prison, the home office announced today. He was identified as Karel Richard Richter, a Sudeten German born January 29, 1912, in Kraslice. The home office said he was convicted under the Treachery act after a secret trial.

TROOPS GUARD U. S. AIR BASE IN RAID WARNING U. S. troops climb out of trucks for guard duty at Mitchell Field, N. Y., army air force base, in the east's first air raid warning of the war, which later appeared to be the outgrowth of a misunderstanding. Mitchell Field sent all its planes into the air during the warnings.

Many Are Present At Reception Given For Msgr. Drury

St. Mary's Hall was crowded Tuesday night at a reception given by the parishioners of St. Mary's Church in honor of their pastor, the Very Rev. Msgr. Drury. The program consisting of music and singing was under the direction of the Rev. B. C. Roth, assistant pastor, who also spoke words of congratulations on behalf of Msgr. Drury's three assistants. St. Mary's choir rendered several selections during the program.

The first speaker was James Gilpatrick, who spoke on behalf of the school children and presented a spiritual bouquet and a beautiful basket of flowers. He was assisted by Bernard Feeney, Natalie Ann Murray and Dorothy Qualtiere.

William Brophy then spoke on behalf of the graduates of St. Mary's School and presented the pastor with a gift. He was assisted by Miss Angela McGowan and Robert Tierney.

Gustav Kogel, president of the Holy Name Society spoke on behalf of the different parish societies, Holy Name Society, Rosary Society and Children of Mary. He extended the congratulations of the societies and pledged their continued cooperation to Msgr. Drury.

Joseph F. Sullivan spokesman for the congregation, reviewed the work of the different pastors who had served the parish during the century of its existence and told of the talents displayed by them in their guidance of the parish activities. He pledged the loyalty and devotion of the people to their pastor.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Stanley, a former pastor of St. Mary's, spoke words of commendation and felicitation and in a friendly way told of his time spent in Kingston as a pastor.

A classmate of Msgr. Drury, the Rev. Edward J. Nilan, of St. Mary's Church in Ellenville, voiced the feelings of the priests of the deanery. In a lighter vein he also spoke of their college and seminary days together and told of the many exceptional qualities of the honored guest.

Monsignor Drury then thanked all those who had taken part in the program and also the parishioners of St. Mary's. He told of his coming to Kingston and how he had come to love the parish and its people.

After the close of the program Msgr. Drury personally greeted those present. Dancing was enjoyed following the reception.

Swiss, Argentine Act New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office was formally notified today that the Swiss legation would look after United States interests in Japan while the Argentine embassy would protect British interests, the Japanese radio announced today.

Chile's decision could mean future strategic advantages of considerable importance. The country has a larger Pacific coast line than the United States. It stretches half the length of South America, dominating the Straits of Magellan and the waters around Cape Horn—the route to the Pacific before the Panama Canal was built, and Chile's navy is rated the best in South America.

Argentina took a stand similar to Chile's and the two republics agreed jointly to fortify the Straits of Magellan, which provided shelter for lurking German surface raiders during the first World War.

As Mr. Roosevelt spoke an ominous silence in Berlin gave rise to the belief that Hitler had decided to proclaim the official German policy toward Japan's four-day-old war with the United States and Britain. Moreover, the Tokyo radio reported that in Rome, the other Axis capital, the U. S. embassy had started to burn important documents—the usual prelude to a diplomatic break or formal war.

Tokyo's official spokesman already was quoted by the British radio as saying "we have asked Germany to declare war on America."

The chief executive did not explain the seven-day week policy which he announced for vital industries, but Sidney Hillman, O. P. M.'s associate director, said that it did not mean that workers would have to work every day of the week. The objective, he said, was to get defense production on a 160-hour basis for the week, with the other eight hours devoted to maintenance work.

There was a strong hint a few hours after the speech of a much sterner administration attitude toward labor disputes that might impair defense considerations in any way.

Dispatches from Manila early today reported two Japanese landings on the Island of Luzon, with all signs pointing to "heavy enemy attacks supported by naval contingents and aircraft."

A communique from the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, U. S. commander in the Philippines, said the Japanese forced landings under a hail of bombs dropped by American warplanes.

One Japanese transport was sunk with heavy casualties, it was announced, and three others were damaged, and three more possibly were hit.

A Tokyo communique, quoted by the German radio, said Japanese submarines sank a 15,000-ton U. S. transport in Manila Bay yesterday and that Japanese naval units sank an American submarine off

New Laws Sought To Hold Present Quota in Service

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—The United States moved today to make the fullest use of its great reservoir of manpower.

Chairman May (D., Ky.) of the House military committee called for swift passage of legislation which would permit retention of all fighting forces for the duration, and allow selectees to be dispatched to any point on the globe. A similar measure was ready for Senate action.

Congress sent to the President only yesterday a bill freezing naval enlistments for six months beyond the end of the war.

Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, said reclassification of selectees who had been given occupational deferments was under consideration, and that later the reclassification of men deferred because of dependents might be discussed.

Although General Hershey said there was "a strong possibility" that Congress would lower the draft age minimum from 21 to 18, Rep. May deprecated the likelihood of such a change.

"I don't think there will be any such step soon, maybe not at all," the Kenton said. "There is no sentiment for such a change in the committee. Of course in a long war anything is possible."

He said that if any change in the present registration limits of 21 through 35 became necessary, he thought it more likely that the maximum might be raised to some extent.

Society Elects Officers The Ladies' Rosary Society of Immaculate Conception Church met and elected officers for the 1942 year Sunday night. Those elected were Mrs. Frank Falatyn, president; Mrs. Anthony Kaminski, vice-president; Mrs. Daniel Styles, financial secretary; Mrs. Martha Kellerman, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Raczkowski, recording secretary. It was decided to hold a Three Kings party Sunday, January 4. Before this the installation of officers will be held. Mrs. Kaminski and Mrs. Joseph Tomczak are in charge.

Swiss, Argentine Act New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office was formally notified today that the Swiss legation would look after United States interests in Japan while the Argentine embassy would protect British interests, the Japanese radio announced today.

Chile's decision could mean future strategic advantages of considerable importance. The country has a larger Pacific coast line than the United States. It stretches half the length of South America, dominating the Straits of Magellan and the waters around Cape Horn—the route to the Pacific before the Panama Canal was built, and Chile's navy is rated the best in South America.

Argentina took a stand similar to Chile's and the two republics agreed jointly to fortify the Straits of Magellan, which provided shelter for lurking German surface raiders during the first World War.

As Mr. Roosevelt spoke an ominous silence in Berlin gave rise to the belief that Hitler had decided to proclaim the official German policy toward Japan's four-day-old war with the United States and Britain. Moreover, the Tokyo radio reported that in Rome, the other Axis capital, the U. S. embassy had started to burn important documents—the usual prelude to a diplomatic break or formal war.

Tokyo's official spokesman already was quoted by the British radio as saying "we have asked Germany to declare war on America."

The chief executive did not explain the seven-day week policy which he announced for vital industries, but Sidney Hillman, O. P. M.'s associate director, said that it did not mean that workers would have to work every day of the week. The objective, he said, was to get defense production on a 160-hour basis for the week, with the other eight hours devoted to maintenance work.

There was a strong hint a few hours after the speech of a much sterner administration attitude toward labor disputes that might impair defense considerations in any way.

Dispatches from Manila early today reported two Japanese landings on the Island of Luzon, with all signs pointing to "heavy enemy attacks supported by naval contingents and aircraft."

A communique from the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, U. S. commander in the Philippines, said the Japanese forced landings under a hail of bombs dropped by American warplanes.

One Japanese transport was sunk with heavy casualties, it was announced, and three others were damaged, and three more possibly were hit.

A Tokyo communique, quoted by the German radio, said Japanese submarines sank a 15,000-ton U. S. transport in Manila Bay yesterday and that Japanese naval units sank an American submarine off

F. Mentz, medical student of Cape Town University, South Africa, and a fellow student, on a hiking tour round the country, covered 3,000 miles. They walked, however, only 30 miles, because of "lifts" in automobiles. When they ended their journey in Johannesburg they had spent only $5, of which $1.50 went for meals.

COOKBOOKLET OF THE WEEK

NEW COOKBOOKLET OFFERS IDEAS FOR JIFFY SOUPS WHEN YOU'RE IN A HURRY

Just in case you think soup-making takes a lot of time and effort, you should glance at the interesting group of Jiffy Soups in the latest Cookbooklet, "250 Delicious Soups," sixth in the series being offered to readers of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Canned soups form the basis for most of these easy-to-make recipes and the results are delightful. If you like your soups to show evidence of ingenuity when you serve them at the table, try combining two prepared soups to lend a new zest to your regular meal planning routine.

For instance, with a can of Cream of Mushroom soup, there are possibilities of several delicious varieties when combined with another prepared soup. Add a can of Chicken soup to Cream of Mushroom and you have a tasty, easily prepared soup dish. Or, simmer one-half cup whole kernel corn in two tablespoons of butter for five minutes; add a can of Cream of Mushroom soup and serve garnished with chopped pimiento. Here's another tempter every one will like. To a can of Cream of Mushroom soup add a can of Pea soup and garnish with chopped mint leaves. For lobster supreme, use a can of Asparagus soup with a can of Mushroom and shredded lobster meat. Add three tablespoons of sherry for a savory touch.

For quick Tuna Bisque—one can of Pea soup, 2 cups rich milk or cream and 1 can tuna, shredded. Hunter's special is made with one can condensed Tomato soup, 1 can condensed Scotch broth and 2 cans water. Heat to boiling and simmer 4 or 5 minutes.

There are many other quick soup suggestions to keep you supplied with ideas for months and months. You'll find the Soup Booklet invaluable.

able whenever you need hurry-up suggestions.

A wonderful recipe for a meal-in-one soup for a quick meal is this happy variation:

Quick Minestrone
2½ cups canned consommé
1¼ cups cooked cabbage
1¼ cups corn
1¼ cups canned green beans
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups cooked Lima beans
1¼ cups cooked onions
1¼ cups canned peas, drained
1¼ cups canned tomatoes
Parmesan cheese

Combine all ingredients in the order listed and cook for 15 minutes. Serve with Parmesan cheese and toast. For variation, omit the corn and substitute ½ cup cooked macaroni and ½ clove garlic, minced.

Another clever trick is to keep canned Bouillon or Consommé in the refrigerator—simply serve it as it comes from the can jellied, with lemon slices as garnish.

A remarkable variety of subjects has already been covered in the first six booklets of the series. Look over this attractive list:

"500 Snacks"
"500 Delicious Dishes from Leftovers"
"250 Classic Cake Recipes"
"250 Ways to Prepare Poultry and Game Birds"
"250 Superb Pies and Pastries"
"250 Delicious Soups"

Each week a new subject will appear to add to your culinary library.

Each booklet is available for only 13c with one coupon from page two of the Kingston Daily Freeman at any outlet listed in the coupon. To order by mail, send one coupon and 16c for each booklet (13c for book; 3c for postage) to the Cookbooklet Department, Kingston Daily Freeman, Freeman Square, Kingston, N. Y.

For smooth, creamy richness, the Soup Cookbooklet suggests Cream of Mushroom. There are 250 different varieties in this amazing new booklet, now ready for you.

Latin-American Current Events

Review at Lowell Club

Mrs. Wesley D. Hale was hostess yesterday afternoon at her home on Broadway to the Lowell Club. Mrs. Hale gave a book report on "South by Thunder Bird" by Stroud. In describing the adventures of the book Mrs. Hale added many of her own experiences in traveling over the same territory as the author.

The roll call yesterday was most up-to-date on the current events in Latin-America. Recent magazine articles and news items were the sources of materials for this topic. The next meeting will be the annual Christmas party at the home of the Misses Anne and Quimby on Wilson avenue. The meeting will be held at the usual time, 3:30 p. m.

Dinner Will Honor

Rev. C. B. McCann

A short talk will be given by the Right Rev. Monsignor Francis W. Walsh, pastor of St. Gabriel's Church, Riverdale, and Military Vicar of the Armed Forces of the United States.

On Sunday morning, December 14, the Rev. Father McCann will offer a mass of thanksgiving at St. Charles' Church, Gardiner, and the following Sunday, December 21, at St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz. At these masses, the societies of the churches will receive holy communion in a body.

One Guest for Lunch Turned Out to Be Two

A reader of my article on those careless people who in one way or another, let someone pay their check, writes me: "My own experience in being caught with an unexpected check, also included being caught short with it. I had invited Mrs. B.—an acquaintance rather than a friend to lunch in a restaurant. Delayed in starting from home, I had not time to stop at the bank, as I intended to do. I was not altogether assured by the amount of money in my purse, but I felt I had enough to pay for lunch, until to my surprise Mrs. B., arriving with a friend of her own who was a stranger to me, coolly told me she had urged her to join us because she knew I would love to meet her."

"All through lunch I sat mentally adding up figures, and wondering whether this stranger was to be considered Mrs. B's guest, or my own! Not daring to risk being unable to pay the check I made believe I was not feeling well and ordered nothing but tea and toast for myself. In fact, as it turned out, the check was handed to me, with not a murmur from Mrs. B. and I had too little left for the tip I wanted to give the waiter. "I don't know whether I was more hungry, more embarrassed, or more angry! Anyway, I am now writing to ask what I could have done under the circumstances?"

The only answer to this, it seems to me, was to have avoided being hostess to an uncertain acquaintance. Had Mrs. B. been an intimate friend, you would have known in the first place whether she would be likely to take it upon herself to invite your guests for you. Anyway, you could have drawn her aside before going to your table, and asked her to let you borrow however much needed. To have told her, "Since you brought her, she will have to be your guest" is the sort of thing one who is ill-bred won't say, but one who is well bred can do nothing except be chary of Mrs. B. in the future.

Reports Made at Cheer Committee

The Christmas Cheer Committee held its regular weekly meeting at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, when reports of the various chairmen were made. There are only two weeks left and all sub-committees are intensifying their activities.

Miss Gertrude Dempsey, chairman of the toy committee, reported the work being done in reconditioning the toys and said that many more large toys were needed. Wagons, tricycles, automobiles and the like are lacking. No matter how delapidated these toys may be the committee can use them. Parts may be taken from one to complete another so that all contributions are used. Toys may be left at the Central Fire Station or will be collected if the call is received by the police or fire department.

The Business Girl's Club of the Y. W. C. A. has again offered its services in packing the candy and various groups through the city have already aided the committee through contributions and dressing dolls.

Donations of money may still be made to members of the finance committee or Mrs. Edward Loughran, chairman. Generous support from some of the local clubs has already been received.

Christmas Party Is Given at College Club

The annual Christmas party of the Kingston College Women's Club was held last evening at the First Reformed Church house. At the short business session contributions were voted toward the Mayor's Christmas Cheer fund and the Tuberculosis campaign. Mrs. William F. Murray urged all members to register for Civilian Defense work. She explained that plans for this work are facilitated if the officials know the equipment and talents of the citizens.

Following the business session, group games were played. Honors were awarded to Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, Mrs. Ida K. Sherman, Miss Ione Kinkade, Miss Dorothy DuMont, Mrs. William F. Murray, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. Arnold Van Laer and Mrs. Rose K. Witter.

As refreshments were served the members gathered around the radio to listen to the President's address. Hostesses for the party were: Miss Clarissa Smith, chairman; Mrs. Harry R. Perley, Mrs. Thomas L. Partlan, Mrs. Wilson Norwood, Mrs. Dorr Monroe, Miss Mary E. Noone, Miss Gladys Nickerson, Dr. Elizabeth Moore Taylor, Mrs. William F. Murray, Mrs. James Murphy, Jr., Miss Margaret Mullen and Mrs. Robert F. Moseley. The committee arranging for the party were Miss Margaret Schuetz, Miss Jane Ward and Miss Isabelle Malone.

Miss Johnston Is Honored At Miscellaneous Shower

Last Friday evening, Miss Mabel Johnston of 63 Main street was guest of honor at a surprise miscellaneous bridal shower given by Miss Gloria Schrader at her home, 126 Ten Broeck avenue. A large white wedding bell was hung in the center of the room from which ribbon streamers led to the gifts. The dining room was decorated in green and yellow with the central theme built around a circle of miniature green and yellow umbrellas. Favors were tiny colonial bouquets of candy. ## Stamps IN THE NEWS

By the AP Feature Service

War activities are the theme of the Union of South Africa series arriving currently in this country. Included in the group is a 6-d stamp which shows a welder using modern electric arc equipment. A. F. Davis, Cleveland, O., welding company official, says this is the first time that such a stamp has been used in the history of either stamps or welding.

Other stamps in this series include a 1-shilling showing tanks in the design, a half-penny to honor the infantry and a 1½-p for the air force. Earlier items issued in the series of eight were a 1-p Nursing stamp, a 2-p Sea Defense, a 3-p for women's services, and a 4-p for artillery. The welding stamp is for war production. Some of these stamps have come already. Others are being issued soon and appearing thus far only in picture form.

The U. S. Post Office Department has announced that the 16 cent, 18-c, 20-c, and 21-c denominations of the regular series of postage stamps will be issued with electric-eye perforations and will be placed on sale at the Philatelic Agency and Washington, D. C., post office first January 7, 1942.

Other denominations to have electric-eye perforations will go on sale January 28 at the same places. These will include the 22-c, 24-c, 25-c, and 50-c denominations. First day covers will not be accepted for servicing.

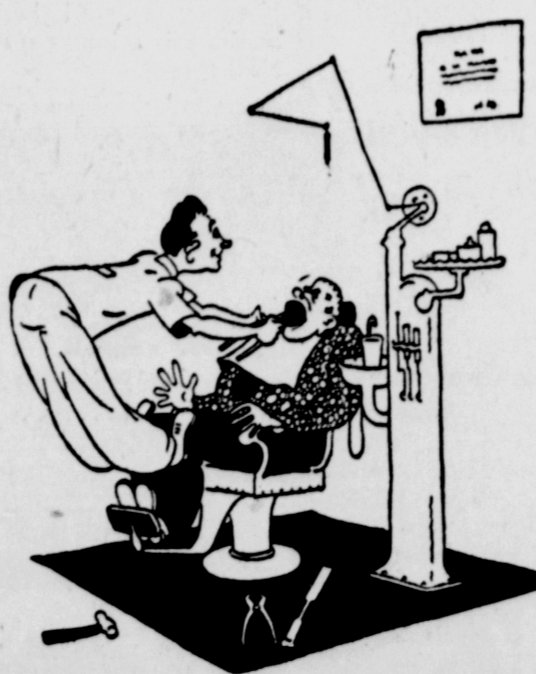

Living costs are now advancing more rapidly than in the corresponding period of the World War I, the Department of Commerce says.

Sorry, Marge— I CAN'T GET THE CAR TONIGHT OR Any Night

"It burns me up, too, when I think how often Dad has talked to me about safe driving — and being on the right side of the Law. Now he's lost his right to drive and registration, too, so nobody else can use the car. All because of an accident that wasn't even his fault. It sure is a tough break for me."

Yes, Bill, it is tough, not only for you, but the whole family. And the sad part of it is your Daddy is a swell driver — careful about speed, brakes and lights. But there was one thing he wasn't careful about — protecting his right to drive. He gambled with the requirements of the New York State Safety-Responsibility Law — and lost. Guess you'll have to keep your "date" by phone from now on.

Protect your Right to Drive

You too may be a careful driver but don't make the mistake Bill's father did. Although you may not be in any way to blame for an accident, the New York State Safety-Responsibility Law requires that you must report the accident and be prepared to deposit whatever security (up to $11,000) the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles may require in order to retain your license and registration. Furthermore, you must file acceptable proof that you would be financially able to meet any possible claims that might arise from any future accident in which you might be involved. Drastic? Yes, but not if you are insured with an Aetna Automobile Liability Policy.* Read all the benefits you get from this one policy — yet this utmost protection now costs less than ever before. Budget the payments, if you wish, but AETNA-IZE NOW before an accident. Afterward, as Bill's father found out, it is too late.

*with limits of at least $5,000/$10,000 for bodily injury and $1,000 for property damage.

AETNA PROTECTION IS PROTECTION PLUS

An Aetna Automobile Liability Policy* goes beyond the settlement of claims and offers you these additional benefits: (1) Your Aetna policy not only meets the requirements of the law, but is recognized proof of financial responsibility throughout the United States and Canada. (2) It pays first aid expenses in case of injuries to others. (3) It pays all defense costs, legal fees, witness fees, investigation and court costs. (4) It provides automatic change-of-car coverage in the event you purchase a new automobile. (5) It protects you while driving a friend's car. (6) It protects others using your car with your permission. (7) You get fast, complete bonding service. (8) You get coast-to-coast service with 25,000 Aetna agents ready, day or night, to come to your assistance. (9) You get the stability of the tremendous resources of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company of Hartford, Connecticut.

The annual meeting for the election of officers for the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Woodstock Methodist Church was held in the church hall Thursday, December 4. A luncheon was served at noon. Covers were laid for 16 and during luncheon Mrs. Albert Phillips was honored by the presentation of a birthday cake and the congratulations of the society.

A social hour was spent preceding the regular business of the afternoon. At 2 o'clock the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Lewis Reynolds, who conducted the monthly program. The worship service in charge of Mrs. Norman Smith was a Christmas service.

The yearly reports of the president, secretary and treasurer were read and highly complimented on the quantity and quality of work accomplished under the new setup of Methodism. The meeting was then turned over to the Rev. Lester B. Hawes, pastor of the church, as chairman of the election.

Van De Bogart, treasurer; Mrs. L. B. Hawes, secretary of missionary work; Mrs. Everett Cashdollar, secretary of local church activities; Mrs. Clyde Elwyn, secretary of literature and publications; Mrs. Albert Phillips, secretary of student work; Mrs. Bruce Herlick, secretary of supplies; Mrs. Zella Lasher, chairman of spiritual life committee; Mrs. Effie Happy, chairman of fellowship committee; Mrs. Victor Shultis, publicity committee. ## Cooper Lake Now 12 Feet Below Its Normal Crest

Lack of sufficient rain the past summer and fall has resulted in the lowering of Cooper's Lake, which supplies the city with its water, and this morning at the water department it was stated that the lake was 12 feet below normal crest.

Unless there is a heavy fall of rain or snow the lake will continue to drop, but the situation as yet has not grown serious enough to cause the water department to issue a warning to conserve water, although the department is urging householders not to use any more water than necessary.

Recs Play Albany Here Tonight; 'Pop' Morgenweck Dead at 69

Protest Game Must Be Replayed, Says League President

Decision Gives Recreations Clean Slate in the State League; Sid Rabin Will Make Debut

The Kingston Recreations, coming up for tonight's game with the Albany Senators at the municipal auditorium will take the floor with a clean slate according to word from Ben Danforth, president of the New York State Pro Basketball League. The game is scheduled for 9:15 o'clock.

Danforth announced that the protest charged by the Recs after Saratoga had scored a 38 to 30 win here last Wednesday night, had been refused. However, the league president announced that the game must be replayed. That, of course, makes Kingston an unbeaten team with one victory to its credit, that over Glens Falls in the opener of the league.

Violating the league rule, which Sid Lutznitz, recreation superintendent, based his protest on, Saratoga used SI Boardman, Phil Rabin and Martens, members of the American League, without first notifying the league president.

"Tonight's game looks like a near sell-out," said a member of the Recreations this morning. "Danforth's decision makes Kingston an undefeated team and coupled with the appearance of this towering team from Albany, we expect a great turnout to watch the contest at the Broadway court."

The game also will mark the first appearance of Sid Rabin in a local uniform. Sid has been recommended highly. A good performance tonight will probably earn him a berth with the Recs who have been dissatisfied with Bill Goodwin. Whether there'll be any more changes remains to be seen. However, the recreation board members have hinted that these new faces will be in the lineup providing the club doesn't chick.

Manager Jim McNally may keep himself on the bench at the start tonight. The lineup probably will be Carl Matitano and Sid Rabin as forwards, Jack McGuirk, center, and probably Jerry Rizzo and "Dutch" Garfinkel as guards. Both McNally and Matitano were off color last week.

Albany Has Height

Appearing with the Albany Senators tonight will be one of the greatest collections of towering basketball players that ever performed on the Broadway court. The Senators undoubtedly have the tallest team in the league.

One of the towering cagers is Chuck Yund, former Villanova tosser who was the captain at that school last year. Another is Bill McKeever, a product of St. John's University, the same institution that graduated "Dutch" Garfinkel. "Dutch" Hofer of Celtic fame in the American League plays with Albany.

The Senators have two other great players in Dick Lee, an ex-Brooklyn Visitation star, and Willy Knapp, formerly of Long Island University. Knapp is the player the Recs desired before he was grabbed by the Senators.

After tonight's contest the Recreations make their first out-of-town trip, playing in Pittsfield Friday night and in Glens Falls Saturday. According to the advanced schedule of games the Recs will then be idle until Christmas night when Troy plays at the municipal auditorium.

Basketball Pioneer Dies at Egg Harbor After Long Illness

Famous Professional Cager Games Here; Funeral on Thursday

Dies at 69

FRANK MORGENWECK
Frank "Pop" Morgenweck, a pioneer in professional basketball circles is dead. The former promoter of basketball teams in this city died at his home in Egg Harbor, N. J., last night at the age of 69.

Morgenweck had been in ill health for a number of years. He is survived by his wife, a son, Frank, Jr., a brother, John Morgenweck of Philadelphia, Pa., and several grandchildren.

The veteran basketball pilot made his first appearance in this city in 1910 when he headed the Kingston Colonials in the Hudson River League. This was the beginning of a long basketball career for Morgenweck in this city.

In 1922-23 Morgenweck piloted a local team to a championship and then went on to capture the world's professional title over the Original Celtics in the best three out of five games.

During the 1922-23 season Kingston won the New York State League with a record of 24 victories in 29 games. Then the locals represented Patterson to win the second half of the Metropolitan League.

On Morgenweck's championship squad were such basketball immortals as Benny Borgmann, Carmie Husta, Charlie Powers, George Artus, Nick Harvey and Harry Knoblauch.

After this Morgie moved to the west and had teams in Chicago, Ill., and Fort Wayne, Ind., capturing the American League title twice in three seasons. Later he returned to this city and once again piloted the locals in the New York State League.

After this he returned to the American League and had such cage stars as the Husta brothers, Carl and Mickey, Frank Shimek, Tiny Hearn, Gaze Chizmadia, Lefty Kintzing, Rusty Saunders, Fatty Banks, "Pip" Koehler and many others.

About four years ago Morgenweck, suffering from ill health, sold out his interests to a Kingston group, Le Van Haver, Matthew Herzog, Joseph Forman and Jack Feye, who brought Kate Smith's Celtics to this city.

Morgenweck always called Benny Borgmann the greatest all-around player he ever developed. Morgie also had the distinction of tutoring Bill Kennan, John Pennino, George Henschel, Harry Frankle, Freddie Geig, Sam Curlett, Maurice Tome, Tiny Hearn, Johnny Beckman, Carl and Mickey Husta, George Artus, Rusty Saunders, Pat Herlihy and many other basketball stars who made their name in pro basketball.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at Egg Harbor, N. J. Other arrangements have not been announced.

To increase the strength of the Navy the Netherlands Indies will purchase flying boats from Europe and a large number of training planes from the United States.

Women of England are using billiard chalk as a substitute for "eye shadow" which, like face powder, lipstick and vanishing cream, has become very scarce.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Dec. 10 (Wide World)—New York's first air raid alarm yesterday busted up Fordham's opening drill for the sugar bowl game. . . . And the reports said it was Missouri that is weak on air defense! . . . Wonder how serious Don Barnes is about moving the Browns to Los Angeles? . . . It was a cinch he would be turned down this time. . . . The transportation problem is hard to beat as long as club owners are hesitant about trusting their valuable ivory in airplanes and the ballplayers feel the same way about it. . . . A deal of some sort for Johnny Mize may be the next news from the baseball meetings. . . . Dodgers and Giants both are supposed to be after him, although they may be scared off by hearing that he's still bothered by a sore shoulder even though he hasn't tried to throw recently.

Odds—Some Ends

Dr. Charles C. Murray, Jr., of Lubbock, Tex., suggests enlisting the Texas U. football team to look after the war because "they seem to understand the Pacific situation perfectly." . . . John L. Sullivan is an entry in the 118-pound division of the Washington Golden Gloves tournament. . . . Skip Al Glover, former Duke U. golfer, plans to turn pro in the Miami

Open. He has been promised a job with a club next summer. . . . Athletes at Chicago's Morton High School who received watches for playing in the finals of the American Legion baseball tournament last summer will get "consideration" for reinstatement by the Illinois High School Association if they return the watches. . . . Since the Stork Club champ got his lumps from Freddie Archer Monday, Jacobs beachcombers say he'll be known as "Boo Jack" until further notice.

Hot Stove Warmup

Rival major league managers have just about given up the idea of outsmarting Hans Lobert since they learned that one of his first acts on reaching Chicago for the big league meetings was to take Bill Klem to lunch. . . . The Cardinals, who carried 34 men to Jacksonville, didn't take Billy Southworth along to Chicago. Billy had some carpenter work to do on his new house near Columbus, O. . . . Best gag of the meeting so far was Frank Frisch's: "My pitching staff is shot."

Prosperity Notes

The Bears-Packers pro football playoff was sold out—all 46,484 seats—within a few hours after tickets were put on the market. . . . The Shrine ticket office in San Francisco has had to go on a 12-hour shift to take care of the demand for the East-West game. . . . Missouri can't get enough Sugar Bowl pastebords to fill all its applications.

Trades Completed As Major Leagues Close Many Deals

Chicago, Dec. 10 (AP)—The trading tempo of the major league meetings quickened today with half a dozen deals closed and several others, including the possible sale of Delph Camilli to the Yankees, in the negotiating stage.

Overnight the Phillies announced sale of Outfielder John Rizzo to Brooklyn and infielder Emmett Mueller to Montreal, a Dodgers' farm, and the New York Giants bought Third Baseman Bill Werber from Cincinnati and sold Outfielder Joe Moore and Morrie Aronovitch to Indianapolis.

This business followed such deals of the meeting's first day as the Chicago White Sox trading Outfielder Mike Kreevich and Pitcher Jack Hallett to the Philadelphia Athletics for Outfielder Wally Moses and the Boston Braves buying outfielder Tommy Holmes from Newark for cash.

The big talk, however, was the bidding of the World Champion New York Yankees for Camilli, veteran first baseman of the pennant winning Dodgers and the National League's most valuable player last season when he led in both home runs and runs batted in.

The best guess was that Larry MacPhail, Dodgers president, was asking about $75,000 for his prize, even though all other National League clubs waived on him at $7,500. President Ed Barrow of the Yanks was thought to have offered about $50,000.

Representatives of the two clubs met yesterday and last night and the dickering was to continue today.

Close Games Mark Catholic League Basketball Tilts

Port Ewen, St. Colmans and Wilbur Get Wins; Four Points Biggest Margin of Victory

In the Catholic Basketball League last night at the M.J.M. gym, Port Ewen, St. Colmans and Wilbur came through with close victories. No more than four points separated each losing and winning quintet.

Port Ewen, taking a 10 to 4 lead in the first half, continued in the final two periods to turn back St. Marys. Sass, Port Ewen forward, gave his club the needed offensive strength as he collected 19 points. Ross with 12 was high for the losing club.

St. Colmans and St. Josephs played an 18 to 14 game with the former team getting the nod. O'Bryan had six for the winners. Schneider and Brooks dropped in four markers for St. Josephs. The winning five had a 10 to 5 lead after the first two periods of play.

Wilbur, sparked by Gerroux's eight markers, defeated St. Peters by 22 to 18. The defeated club led 6 to 4 at the end of the half. Weiss collected six for St. Peters.

MEXICO FILM NAZI HIT
Mexico's picture industry was surprised and delighted to hear that an old ace Mexico film, "Ora Ponciano" ("Come On You, Ponciano") is having a long run at the Astor theatre in Berlin, Germany. It is titled in German, "Bullfighter Diaz," and the sound is dubbed in by a German process. In Mexico City the success of the film in Berlin is considered all the more remarkable because of the coldness throughout Mexico to all things Nazi. Not a single German or Italian in Mexico in many months.

Cosmic 'Smoke'-Debris Left by Celestial Blast

A great mass of shining cosmic "smoke," the Crab Nebula, tentatively has been identified as the debris left by a titanic celestial explosion that was observed by humans in the year 1054.

Late findings regarding sky blasts and behavior of a variety of freak stars have been reported to the Astronomical Society of the Pacific by Dr. Paul W. Merrill of Mt. Wilson observatory, Los Angeles. In 1054, a star previously invisible, exploded with such an outpouring of light that it could be seen even at noon on a sunny day. Superstitious persons feared the end of the world was at hand. The "peculiar" character and observed rapid expansion of the Crab Nebula, Dr. Merrill asserts, "suggest that it may be the remains of the temporary object recorded by the Oriental observers."

Comparing the sun to an electric lamp, the Mt. Wilson astronomer calculates that every minute the sun delivers $60,000,000,000 worth of light and heat to the earth. "Figure up a month's bill if you care to and then recall that the earth receives less than one two-billionth part of the sun's total output, most of which travels out to the abyssal depths of interstellar space. Most stars maintain a perfectly regular, trouble-free power delivery service.

"Of course it is possible for electric currents in homes to pulsate, giving rise to fluctuations in the brightness of our lamps. This behavior is matched by certain stars that change their brightness in a regular, periodic manner. Thousands of these variables have been discovered.

Precious Vitamins Lost
With Improper Cooking
Good-bye, vitamins! Down the drain they go, carrying away all their precious health and beauty elements—A for resistance, B1 for pep, C for strong teeth, D for body tone, G for digestion.

Often people whose menus really have enough vitamins lose them in cooking. They put too much water on vegetables, cook them too long and then throw the liquids away.

Or they may add soda (enemy of vitamins) to keep the green color, which can be retained if the food is cooked in an open kettle.

To get all your vitamins, use only a little water in cooking and then save the water for soups, sauces and gravies. Don't stir air into foods while cooking or put fruits or vegetables through a sieve while hot.

Excellent sources of Vitamin A are sweet potatoes, egg yolks, liver, green and yellow vegetables and fruits.

Vitamin B1 is plentiful in milk, whole wheat and beans. Vitamin C in tomatoes and the cabbage family. Vitamin D in fish-liver oils.

Dry Cleaning More Than Dumping Suit Into Vat

How often a man's suit should be cleaned depends on the type of suit, the sort of wear it gets and the occupation of the wearer, according to the Cleaners and Dyers Association of California.

The solvent odor which sometimes remains in a suit after its return from a shop does not indicate a sign of cleanness, the association declares. On the contrary, the association claims, pure solvent does not leave an odor. It happens only when the cleaner allows his solvent to become dirty that the odor persists.

In dry cleaning, the soil is transferred from the fabric to the solvent. If the solvent is not purified constantly, clothes which are cleaned near the end of the run may emerge from the cleaning tumblers dirtier than when they entered.

There is more to dry cleaning than just dumping a suit into the cleaning vat. Removing the perspiration, especially from around the collars, shoulders and knees, is very important. Then the pressing requires particular attention. The lapel should never be pressed flat or left unpressed. It should be rolled on a special machine.

Good cleaners vary their pressing procedure for different fabrics. Soft sport materials are finished with dry steam and without pressure which flattens the nap. Hard worsteds and gabardines, on the other hand, should be placed on a machine designed to avoid shininess.

Denmark has to drink ersatz coffee.

AUTHOR MAY NOT SEE BOOK
Praised by peers and Members of Parliament for his book, "Making of England," L. G. Redmond-Howard, the author, may never see the work published. He is nephew of the great John Redmond, Irish leader of a generation ago. "I am almost blind now and may never see again," he told a London reporter. "In the few weeks that remain I want to see my life-work finished."

Weather Bureau
To Remain SamePublication of Forecasts to Change Little

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the Weather Bureau, announced today that the Weather Bureau hopes to continue normal publication of weather forecasts, especially during the winter, except for occasional omissions of regional information considered of military or naval importance.

"During the winter," he said, "the possible losses that might result from lack of warning about cold waves might do more harm than good, and while we intend to cooperate to the fullest extent with the army and navy, we hope to keep the public informed throughout the winter, at least."

He added that local weather stations throughout the country were keeping in constant touch with army and navy officials and were instructed to suspend the giving of weather information whenever necessary for military reasons.

Two Destroyers
Slated for Water
At Boston Today

Boston, Dec. 10 (AP)—Two destroyers being launched today at the navy yard will bear the names of a rear admiral who organized the North Sea mine barrage in the World War and an enlisted man wounded while cutting a Spain-Havana cable at Cienfuegos in 1898.

The launchings of the vessels, the Earle and the Doran, are the first to be announced here by the navy since the United States and Japan went to war.

One destroyer will honor Rear Admiral Ralph Earle, U.S.N., late president of Worcester Polytechnic Institute and chief of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance during the World War.

The other—the Doran—is named for the late Chief Master-at-Arms John James Doran, U.S.N.

Admiral Earle won the distinguished service medal for his services, the citation crediting him with organizing the mine barrage. Congress awarded Doran the medal of honor for "extraordinary heroism under fire."

Museum of Modern Art
Tapes Up Its Windows

New York, Dec. 10 (AP)—The ultra-modern, largely-glass building of the Museum of Modern Art in 51st street was virtually bound in tape today as a precaution against possible air raid damage.

Officials of the museum said the work was done at the request of the air raid warden in the district as an example of building protection "and not because we are hysterical or frightened." One entire wall of the museum is glass.

Explained that there have been many casualties in London from flying glass and under the method used on the museum building, the glass will shatter under repercussions but will not fly.

Pope Will Broadcast

LIMIT TO LOCKS—The haircut this barber in Banff, Canada, thought to give Chief Spotted Eagle turned out to be something slightly less. The chief had only his bangs trimmed. Despite coaxing, he wouldn't part with those two long braids.

Transfusions Through Bones
Blood transfusions can be given through the bones as well as through the veins, it was recently reported.

In 17 trials of this method on 14 patients there was only one failure. Substances injected into the bone marrow enter the blood stream apparently unchanged and almost as rapidly as when injected into the veins, they report.

Bones will not supplant veins as a route for introducing blood or other substances into the bodies of patients. In some conditions, however, it is difficult or impossible to inject into the veins. Widespread mutilations, burns, dropsy, shock, and poorly developed or obliterated veins are conditions in which the bone transfusion route might prove vitally useful. In little babies the veins are usually so poorly developed that injection into them are difficult or impossible.

Complete Text of the President's Address

Washington, Dec. 10 (AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's radio address last night was as follows:

The sudden criminal attacks perpetrated by the Japanese in the Pacific provide the climax of a decade of international immorality.

Powerful and resourceful gangsters have banded together to make war upon the whole human race. Their challenge has now been flung at the United States of America. The Japanese have treacherously violated the long-standing peace between us. Many American soldiers and sailors have been killed by enemy action. American ships have been sunk; American airplanes have been destroyed.

The Congress and the people of the United States have accepted that challenge.

Together with other free peoples, we are now fighting to maintain our right to live among our world neighbors in freedom and in common decency, without fear of assault.

I have prepared the full record of our past relations with Japan, and it will be submitted to the Congress. It begins with the visit of Commodore Perry to Japan 88 years ago. It ends with the visit of two Japanese emissaries to the Secretary of State last Sunday, an hour after Japanese forces had looted their bombs and machine guns against our flag, our forces and our citizens.

I can say with utmost confidence that no Americans today or a thousand years hence, need feel anything but pride in our patience and our efforts through all the years toward achieving a peace in the Pacific which would be fair and honorable to every nation, large or small. And no honest person, today or a thousand years hence, will be able to suppress a sense of indignation and horror at the treachery committed by the military dictators of Japan, under the very shadow of the flag of peace borne by their special envoys in our midst.

Details the "Parallel"

The course that Japan has followed for the past ten years in Asia has paralleled the course of Hitler and Mussolini in Europe and Africa. Today, it has become far more than a parallel. It is collaboration so well calculated that all the contingents of the world, and all the oceans, are now considered by the Axis strategists as one gigantic battlefield.

In 1931, Japan invaded Manchukuo—without warning.

In 1935, Italy invaded Ethiopia—without warning.

In 1938, Hitler occupied Austria—without warning.

In 1939, Hitler invaded Czechoslovakia—without warning.

Later in 1939, Hitler invaded Poland—without warning.

In 1940, Hitler invaded Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg—without warning.

In 1940, Italy attacked France and later Greece—without warning.

In 1941, the Axis Powers attacked Yugoslavia and Greece and they dominated the Balkans—without warning.

In 1941, Hitler invaded Russia—without warning.

And now Japan has attacked Malaya and Thailand—and the United States—without warning.

It is all of one pattern.

We are now in this war. We are in it—all the way. Every single man, woman and child is a part in the most tremendous undertaking of our American history. We must share together the bad news and the good news, the defeats and the victories—the changing fortunes of war.

So far, the news has all been bad. We have suffered a serious setback in Hawaii. Our forces in the Philippines, which include the brave people of that commonwealth are taking punishment but are defending themselves vigorously. The reports from Guam and Wake and Midway Islands are still confused, but we must be prepared for the announcement that all these three outposts have been seized.

The casualty lists of these first few days will undoubtedly be large. I deeply feel the anxiety of all families of the men in our armed forces and the relatives of people in cities which have been bombed. I can only give them my solemn promise that they will get news just as quickly as possible.

This government will put its trust in the stamina of the American people and will give the facts to the public as soon as two conditions have been fulfilled; first, that the information has been definitely and officially confirmed; and second, that the release of the information at the time it is received will not prove valuable to the enemy directly or indirectly.

Most earnestly I urge my countrymen to reject all rumors. These ugly little hints of complete disaster fly thick and fast in wartime. They have to be examined and appraised.

As an example, I can tell you frankly that until further surveys are made, I have not sufficient information to state the exact damage which has been done to our naval vessels at Pearl Harbor. Admittedly the damage is serious. But no one can say how serious until we know how much of this damage can be repaired and how quickly the necessary repairs can be made.

I cite as another example a statement made on Sunday night that a Japanese carrier had been located and sunk off the Canal Zone. And when you hear statements that are attributed to what they call "an authoritative source," you can be reasonably sure that under these war circumstances the "authoritative source" was not any person in authority.

Many rumors and reports which we now hear originate with enemy sources. For instance, today the Japanese are claiming that as a result of their one action against Hawaii they have gained naval supremacy in the Pacific. This is an old trick of propaganda which has been used innumerable times by the Nazis. The purposes of such fantastic claims are, of course, to spread fear and confusion among us, and to goad us into revealing military information which our enemies are desperately anxious to obtain.

Our government will not be caught in this obvious trap—and neither will our people.

It must be remembered by each and every one of us that our free and rapid communication must be greatly restricted in wartime. It is not possible to receive full, speedy, accurate reports from distant areas of combat. This is particularly true where naval operations are concerned. For in these days of the marvels of radio, it is often impossible for the commanders of various units to report their activities by radio, for the very simple reason that this information would become available to the enemy, and would disclose their position and their plan of defense or attack.

Pledge Concerning Information
Of necessity there will be delays in officially confirming or denying reports of operations, but we will not hide facts from the country if we know the facts, and if the enemy will not be aided by their disclosure.

To all newspapers and radio stations—all those who reach the eyes and ears of the American people—I say this: You have a most grave responsibility to the nation now and for the duration of this war.

If you feel that our government is not disclosing enough of the truth, you have every right to say so. But—in the absence of all the facts, as revealed by official sources—you have no right to deal out unconfirmed reports in such a way as to make people believe they are gospel truth.

Every citizen, in every walk of life, shares this same responsibility. The lives of our future of this nation—depend upon the manner in which each and every one of us fulfills his obligation to our country.

Now a word about the recent past—and the future. A year and a half has elapsed since the fall of France, when the whole world first realized the mechanized might which the Axis nations had been building for so many years. America has used that year and a half to great advantage. Knowing that the attack might reach us in all too short a time, we immediately began greatly to increase our industrial strength and our capacity to meet the demands of modern warfare.

Precious months were gained by sending vast quantities of our war material to the nations of the world still able to resist Axis aggression. Our policy rested on the fundamental truth that the defense of any country resisting Hitler or Japan was in the long run the defense of our own country. That policy has been justified. It has given us time, invaluable time, to build our American assembly lines of production.

Assembly lines are now in operation. Others are being rushed to completion. A steady stream of tanks and planes, of guns and ships, of shells and equipment—that is what these eighteen months have given us.

But it is all only a beginning of what has to be done. We must be set to face a long war against crafty and powerful bandits. The attack at Pearl Harbor can be repeated at any one of many points in both oceans and along both our coast lines and against all the rest of the hemisphere.

Yardstick for Our Needs
It will not only be a long war, it will be a hard war. That is the basis on which we now lay all our plans. That is the yardstick by which we measure what we shall need and demand; money, materials, doubled and quadrupled production—ever increasing. The production must be not only for our own Army and Navy and air forces. It must reinforce the other armies and navies and air forces fighting the Nazis and the war lords of Japan throughout the Americas and the world.

I have been working today on the subject of production. Your government has decided on two broad policies.

The first is to speed up all existing production by working on a seven-day-a-week basis in every war industry, including the production of essential raw materials.

The second policy, now being put into form, is to rush additions to the capacity of production by building more new plants, by adding to old plants, and by using the many smaller plants for war needs.

Over the hard road of the past months we have at times met obstacles and difficulties, divisions and disputes, indifference and callousness. That is now all past—and I am sure, forgotten.

The fact is that the country now has an organization in Washington built around men and women who are recognized experts in their own fields. I think the country knows that the people who are actually responsible in each and every one of these many fields are pulling together with a teamwork that has never before been exceeded.

On the road ahead there lies hard work—gruelling work—day and night, every hour and every minute.

I was about to add that ahead there lies sacrifice for all of us. But it is not correct to use that word. The United States does not consider it a sacrifice to do all one can, to give one's best to our nation, when the nation is fighting for its existence and its future life.

It is not a sacrifice for any man, old or young, to be in the Army or the Navy of the United States. Rather it is a privilege.

It is not a sacrifice for the industrialist or the wage-earner, the farmer or the shopkeeper, the trainman or the doctor, to pay more taxes, to buy more bonds, to forego extra profits, to work longer or harder at the task for which he is best fitted. Rather, it is a privilege.

It is not a sacrifice to do without many things to which we are accustomed if the national defense calls for doing without.

Summary of Nation's Supplies

A review this morning leads me to the conclusion that at present we shall not have but the normal articles of food. There is enough food for all of us and enough left over to send to those who are fighting on the same side with us.

There will be a clear and definite shortage of metals of many kinds for civilian use for the very good reason that in our increased program we shall need for war purposes more than half of that portion of the principal metals which during the past year have gone into articles for civilian use. We shall have to give up many things entirely.

I am sure that the people in every part of the nation are prepared in their individual living to win this war. I am sure they will cheerfully help to pay a large part of its financial cost while it goes on. I am sure they will cheerfully give up those material things they are asked to give up.

I am sure that they will retain all those great spiritual things without which we cannot win through.

I repeat that the United States can accept no result save victory, final and complete. Not only must the shame of Japanese treachery be wiped out, but the sources of international brutality, wherever they exist, must be absolutely and finally broken.

In my message to the Congress yesterday I said that this "form of treachery shall never endanger us again." In order to achieve that certainty, we must begin the great task that is before us by abandoning once and for all the illusion that we can never again isolate ourselves from the rest of humanity.

In these past few years—and, most violently, in the past few days—we have learned a terrible lesson.

It is our obligation to our dead—it is our sacred obligation to their children and our children—that we must never forget what we have learned.

And what we all have learned is this: There is no such thing as security for any nation—or any individual—in a world ruled by the principles of gangsterism.

There is no such thing as impregnable defense against powerful aggressors who sneak up in the dark and strike without warning.

We have learned that our ocean-girt hemisphere is not immune from severe attack—that we cannot measure our safety in terms of miles on any map.

Part of "Dirty Business"
We may acknowledge that our enemies have performed a brilliant feat of deception, perfectly timed and executed with great skill. It was a thoroughly dishonorable deed, but we must face the fact that modern warfare as conducted in the Nazi manner is a dirty business. We don't like it—we didn't want to get in it—but we are in it and we're going to fight it with everything we've got.

I do not think any American has any doubt of our ability to administer proper punishment to the perpetrators of these crimes.

Your government knows that for weeks Germany has been telling Japan that if Japan did not attack the United States, Japan would not share in dividing the spoils with Germany when peace came. She was promised by Germany that if she came in she would receive the complete and perpetual control of the whole of the Pacific area—and that means not only the Far East, not only all of the islands in the Pacific, but also a stranglehold on the west coast of North, Central and South America.

We also know that Germany and Japan are conducting their military and naval operations in accordance with a joint plan. That plan considers all peoples and nations which are not helping the Axis powers as common enemies of each and every one of the Axis powers.

That is their simple and obvious grand strategy. That is why the American people must realize that it can be matched only with similar grand strategy.

We must realize, for example, that Japanese successes against the United States in the Pacific are helpful to German operations in Libya; that any German success against the Caucasus is inevitably an assistance to Japan in her operations against the Dutch East Indies; that a German attack against Algiers or Morocco opens the way to a German attack against South America.

Points to Aid in Fight
On the other side of the picture, we must learn to know that guerrilla warfare against the Germans in Serbia helps us; that a successful Russian offensive against the Germans helps us; and that British successes on land or sea in any part of the world strengthen our hands.

Remember always that Germany and Italy, regardless of any formal declaration of war, consider themselves at war with the United States at this moment.

just as much as they consider themselves at war with Britain and Russia. And Germany puts all the other republics of the Americas into the category of enemies. The people of the hemisphere can be honored by that.

The true goal we seek is far above and beyond the ugly field of battle. When we resort to force, as now we must, we are determined that this force shall be directed toward ultimate good as well as against immediate evil.

We Americans are not destroyers—we are builders.

We are now in the midst of a war, not for conquest, not for vengeance, but for a world in which this nation, and all that this nation represents, will be safe for our children. We expect to eliminate the danger from Japan, but it would serve us ill if we accomplished that and found that the rest of the world was dominated by Hitler and Mussolini.

We are going to win the war and we are going to win the peace that follows.

And in the dark hours of this day—and through dark days that may be yet to come—we will know that the vast majority of the members of the human race are on our side. Many of them are fighting with us. All of them are praying for us. For, in representing our cause, we represent theirs as well—our hope and their hope for liberty under God.
